NEW POST OFFICE OPENS MAR. 1

DALY CITY BACKS STATE; COUNTY TREND IN TUESDAY'S ELECTION

County Incumbents Rejected By Voters

Turning out over 6,000 strong, Daly City voters Tuesday gave a helping hand in the defeat of Sheriff James McGrath and the election of Earl B. Whitmore.

This was the surprise of the election, as it was generally expected McGrath, who had held office for 24 years, would at least carry northern San Mateo county.

Semi official complete returns for the county give Whitmore 63,977 votes and McGrath 21,123.

At the same time, Daly City went against the trend in the hotly contested superintendent of schools race giving the defeated Henry C. Hall an edge over James R. Tormey. In the final count, however, Tormey carried the county election with 45,571 votes to Hall's 35,665.

Regime Ends

This ends the "regime" of Pansy Jewett Abbott who had named Hall as her successor.

In the gubernatorial election City followed state trends giving Warren 3,636 of his winning 1,446,584 votes. Semi-official returns now give Roosevelt 781,005 votes.

Daly City, however, favored Helen Gahagan Douglas over Richard M. Nixon. Nixon carried the state with a landslide 1,197,351 votes to Douglas' 856,247.

Following the rest of the state, Daly City gave Pat Brown an edge over E. S. Shattuck for the position of Attorney General. The vote from 10,937 state precincts gives Brown 1,043,134 to Shattuck's 833,198.

HERE'S HOW D. C. BROADMOOR VOTED

This is how Daly City and Broadmoor voted:

	DC	B'dmr
Governor
Warren	3636	1039
Roosevelt	2516	425
Atty Gen.
Brown	3727	842
Shattuck	1875	565
U. S. Senate
Douglas	3011	562
Nixon	2810	881
Supt. of Schools
Hall	3137	758
Tormey	2065	550
Sheriff
McGrath	2182	331
Whitmore	3541	1607

County in Step

Meanwhile, San Mateo county followed the statewide trend in the governorship and senatorial races, but Brown trailed slightly.

Another interesting feature of Tuesday's election was the fact that more people in San Mateo county voted than ever before in its history.

Broadmoor Police Save SF Couple From Bandits

Suspecting a petting party, Broadmoor police last Saturday morning saved a San Francisco couple from a possible pistol-whipping.

The Broadmoor officers, at about 2:30 a.m., came upon a car at the "Y" at San Pedro road. As they walked towards the car, with the idea of breaking up a petting party, the officer heard the cry of "holdup."

A moment later two men dashed away from the car, eluding the Broadmoor officers as well as Daly City and San Francisco police who combed the area without success until 4 a.m.

Standing By

Standing by the car police found Melvin H. Gott, 30, 770 Sloat boulevard and his young woman companion Helen Trollman, 1361 Seventh avenue, San Francisco.

Gott told officers the following story:

He and Miss Trollman were approaching the intersection of Skyline and Sloat at about 2 a.m. when an auto pulled up on his left and a man waving a gun yelled, "This is a holdup."

The San Francisco bank clerk stopped his car, and two men forced Gott and Miss Trollman out the back seat of Gott's convertible sedan. As they turned back on Skyline Gott hid a wallet containing $30 behind the seat.

When Gott told the men he only had $4 they threatened to pistol whip him. They drove to San Pedro road toward Colma and had forced Gott and Mis Trollman out of the car when the Broadmoor police arrived.

Indians Battle San Mateo Today In PAL Crucial

By Roy Hurlbert

Today is the day for Jefferson's unbeaten Indians.

Triumphant in five games, four in league play, Coach Glenn South's tribe encounter perhaps their toughest test along the Peninsula Athletic League championship trail in the San Mateo High Bearcats this afternoon on the Jefferson Field.

Kickoff time is 2:45 o'clock.

Both Need Win

A win for either team would qualify the victor for a shot at the league title. Both squads have yet to challenge the authority of Palo Alto's seemingly invincible Vikings.

Jefferson, stalemated with the Vikings right now with a 4-0 record, must get by the Bearcats today at home or their aspirations will be flattened. Next weeks titanic with Palo Alto would be shorn of its luster, should the Indians lose this afternoon.

Bearcats Second

Coach Frank Collin's San Mateo club has a 3-1 league slate, good enough for a threatening second place.

Their only league defeat was a 18-7 upset by Sequoia. Jefferson annihilated Sequoia 25-0 to start off a truly remarkable and possibly tremendous grid campaign.

Other like oponents for comparison were San Jose and Willow Glen. Last week, the Mateans staged a terrific second-half rally to beat the Bulldogs, 26-20. Amazing thing was that the Bearcats were behind 20-0 at the intermission.

South's team led the San Jose aggregation all the way in a hotly contested 20-12 affair.

San Mateo pulverized Willow Glen four weeks ago, 33-6, but Jefferson had to be satisfied with a close 14-6 win. The Bearcats' other league win was a 25-19 decision over South City.

The Bearcats go places behind the T formation. They are light and speedy. Lightweight Frank Rongey, a 150 pound scatback, is San Mateo's most explosive runner. The left halfback scored all four touchdowns in the San Jose skirmish. He's also one of the leading point-makers in the P.A.L.

Power in the ball-toting department is supplied by rugged Willie Grimes, a big fullback. Quarterback Ernie Morrison and Dick Marble round out a swift foursome.

San Mateo's forwards, who give about seven pounds per man to Jefferson, are paced by tackles Dan Westigard and Willie Wright.

Weight Edge To Indians

The Indian line averages 184 to the 'Cats 177. Backfield weights run 170 to 166, the Tribe the heaviest.

The Indians should be in top condition for the clash. Center Bob Lagomarsino and right tackle Pete Kopcrak, both starters, are back in harness after suffering injuries.

Bob Murchison, junior pivot man, and Floyd Gonella, junior tackle, have filled in very well during the absence of Lagomarsino and Kopcrak.

Reserves Develop

South is also pleased with the rapid development of several of his reserves. Especially end Dave Cafferata, guard Bob Davis, and backfield men, Dave Nathan, Charles Tienken, Ray Espinoza, and Izi Galente.

Byran McMahon's late success at booting extra points is a welcome guarantee, too. It could mean the difference in a ball game, maybe even today's.

BUILDING TO BE DOUBLED IN FLOOR SPACE

Location Slated On Bepler Street

Daly City is to have a new ultra modern postoffice on or about March 1, 1951, John F. Fixa, San Francisco postmaster, said today.

The stucco frame one story building will be erected at the corner of Mission Circle and Bepler. This site is only a few blocks from the present post office on Mission street.

When the new post office is completed it will be almost twice the size of the present building. The new structure will have 3,1116 square feet of floor space, a large lobby and adequate room to handle the ever increasing demands of a growing population.

Answers Need

The building, to be leased and built by A. R. Haskins, 6995 Mission street, will answer a crying community need. For the past three years the present post office has been so small as to actually cripple the efficiency of mail delivery in Daly City.

Not only does Fixa promise the new building, but when Daly City has more space for its post office the number of men employed by the office will be increased. He did not say how many new men would be hired.

"We have planned the building so it will meet the needs of the Daly City area for at least the next 10 years," Fixa said.

No Gov't Building

He reiterated that this isn't a government building. Several months ago bids were asked for leasing a new private building in Daly City. Haskins, who agreed to construct the new post office, was awarded the contract. Haskins will lease, not sell the structure to the post office department.

At some future date it is expected the government may erect a federal building in Daly City.

In describing the new post office Fixa said:

"The building has been designed along the most modern lines. It will have a beautiful tile front, and probably will be the best looking and most efficient station in our whole system."

The only possible snag may be in the city zoning laws. As the site for the new post office building is zoned residential, it will have to be changed to commercial. However, city officials expect there will be no real objections to changing the zoning law for the post office.

Fire Insurance Rates Lowered On Vet Homes

California veterans now buying their own home with a state loan can chalk up a 20 per cent reduction in fire insurance rates December 1.

The reduction was announced today by D. J. Callaghan Jr., state veterans' affairs director.

The new premium rate is 60 cents per $100 for five year term policies. The current rate is 5 cents.

"Insurance companies recognize the unusually low risk represented by the soundly constructed, well located homes which we insist on for veterans coming under the state financing plan," Callaghan said.

OLD WORLD BAZAAR SLATED THIS WEEK-END

Eagles Auxiliary Invites Public

A bazaar in the old world atmosphere will be given by the ladies of the Colma Vista Grande Auxiliary No. 1848, FOE, this weekend.

The two day bazaar will open Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Eagles Hall, 3346 San Jose avenue.

Costumed women in traditional Chinese costumes will greet the public. The ladies will be in numerous booths set up in the hall.

Many Booths

Featured at the booths will be such items as home made cakes and candy. Also there will be special atractions for the children as well as a gypsy to read the future.

The bazaar will wind up with an Armistice Day dance Saturday night. The Eagles Haywire band will furnish the fine music for the affair.

Remember, the public is invited, and for lots of fun it will be difficult to beat the Auxiliary bazaar this weekend.

CAMPAIGN IN PREPARATION TO KEEP ALL DALY CITY STREETS CLEAN

All Merchants Asked To Cooperate

Preparing for an all out drive to clean up the streets of Daly City, especially those on "top of the hill," city officials this week called for cooperation by merchants.

While many of the business men of Daly City are doing their best to keep a neat city, there are a few who completely ignore the rules of sanitation and cleanliness, A. J. Bodien, works superintendent, said today.

Every morning the street department does its best to clean the papers and waste from the city streets. However, an hour or two later some of the merchants on "top of the hill" sweep out their places of business. Not bothering to use garbage cans, they clutter the streets with waste material.

Garbage Dump

"It has gotten to the point where many days the top of the hill resembles more of a garbage dump than a business section," Bodien noted.

The works superintendent pointed out that this was not only bad for the city, but also drove many shoppers to other cleaner districts. Thus, a few of the merchants are driving away business for the many, Bodien concluded.

Look To Law

Orin Wendling, city administrative officer, explained that if the merchants fail to cooperate it may be necessary to employ the law.

"We have an ordinance, No. 10, which makes it unlawful for business men to sweep out their place of business on the streets," Wendling said. "We hope we won't have to enforce it, but we will do so if necessary."

Wendling said within the next few weeks an all out campaign to clean up Daly City streets will be launched.

FIGHT BREWS IN COLMA OVER NEW MASTER ZONING ORDINANCE

Several Claim Law Is Unfair

What promises to be a first class fight in Colma is gaining momentum today as two Colma pioneer residents lashed out against the restrictions of the new master zoning ordinance.

The master zoning ordinance was passed Wednesday at the regular meeting of the Colma city council. When it becomes law in 30 days it will restrict home building to not less than one-half acre and will put the damper on construction of commercial sites.

Unfair Law

Asserting the ordinance was passed solely to protect the cemetery owners, Councilmen Ray Ottoboni and Antonio Conti argue that the new law places unfair restrictions on the use of their lands.

Ottoboni, who claims he is the only property owner on the Colma city council, is vigorous in his protest of the zoning law.

"This ordinance was designed for the protection of the cemeteries, with little regard for other property owners," Ottoboni declared.

He based this claim on the fact that he owns 69 lots in the northern section of Colma, none of which can now be developed for homes. The lots, Ottoboni asserts, can be used only for cemeteries or a nursery.

Conti Objects

Conti, who was refused a permit to build a drive-in theatre several months ago after a court battle said:

"It is arbitrary and amounts to confiscation of property. As such, it is in violation not only of the laws of the state but of my individual property rights."

Another facet of the controversy was sounded last month by the Crocker estate. Crocker requested that some 400 acres of their property be disincorporated. This would cut the area of Colma by

MAYOR DETERMINED TO WIN CENTER

Mayor Paul Green this week, accompanied by Councilmen Fred Bertetta, was in Washington attempting to save the $295,000 Community Center building from the order restricting construction of recreation sites.

The mayor and Bertetta are expected to return to Daly City later this week with either a go ahead or rejection of the project which was aproved by voters over one year ago.

Meanwhile, in a telegram dated November 7, the mayor said in part:

"Have contacted Department of Commerce regarding War Memorial Building, but so far no decision. However, Fred Bertetta and I are determined to win. . ."

Three Injured In Week-End Wreck

Three San Francisco residents, including a 7-year-old boy suffered injuries Sunday afternoon in a head on collision on Highway No. 1, police reported today.

Injured were: Charles E. Landresse, 51, lacerated forehead and cut knee; Mrs. Landresse, contusions, lacerated nose, hands and knees; Christopher Felt, 7, contusion.

Collision

Landresse, police report, was driving east on the highway when he collided with Leonard T. Larson, 31, also of San Francisco, who was coming west on the highway. Larson escaped injury.

Both cars were almost completely demolished in the accident, police said.

Landresse was cited by officers for driving on the wrong side of the road and operating a car without a driver's license.

ARMISTICE DAY 1944

This Saturday the country will mark Armistice Day. It will mean many things to many people, but to us it is a simple reminder of Fritz.

Fritz was a young blond German soldier in World War II. In a parade he looked like the thousands of other Hitler youth who carried the "glory" of the fatherland in a blood march over Europe and into Russia. He was a good soldier whose only thought was a good fight.

We met Fritz, along with a patrol of 10 of his fellows in the Hurtegan forest in November 11, 1944. It was an unexpected meeting and when the fighting was over three of our men and Fritz were dead.

Looking for souveniers, a slow moving shuffling coal miner from Virginia took time enough to empty Fritz's pockets. Back on line we looked over the contents

Officer Van Otten Completes Courses

In a position to better serve and safeguard the community today is Police Officer John Van Otten who last Friday completed a three weeks course at the San Francisco Police Academy.

Van Otten, who joined the Daly City force July 16, was among a class of 23 men given an extensive course in every phase of police work.

Among the subjects covered by the Daly City officer were: instruction and firing of small arms and the automatic shotgun on the San Francisco police target range; accident prevention, homicide, burglary, robbery, vice and a score of similar subjects.

Tradition

With the completion of the course November 3 Van Oten carries on the tradition of the Daly City police department. Today almost every officer on the force at one time or another has graduated from the San Francisco Police Academy.

"We are very fortunate to be able to take advantage of the San Francisco Academy," Police Chief W. W. Sunderland said today. "This is but one more means by which close coperation is assured between the two police departments."

Van Otten who will complete his probation period January 16, 1951, is the father of four children and resides at 247 Knowles avenue.

Daly City's Draft Quota Upped 10%

There will be 10 per cent more Daly City men in the November draft quota, it was learned today.

This week San Mateo county draft boards 57 and 58 were notified of the increase.

In compliance with the increase, Board 57 (northern San Mateo county) will send 40 men November 24 and Board 58 (southern San Mateo county) will send 52 November 30.

The board officers were also advised to prepare for an additional heavy call in December.

CLOSE TO $2 MILLION BLDG. PERMITS ISSUED

While construction throughout the Bay area was on the downgrade over the past month, Daly City showed the exception with $1,733,378 in building permits issued.

This shows a marked increase over October, 1949, when the total value of permits was $415,424.

George Hopman, building inspector, noted that the Westlake project accounted for almost all the permits issued last month. The largest single permit issued outside of Westlake was to John Giosso of San Francisco for two apartment buildings housing 10 apartments at 204 and 208 School. Total value of this permit was $50,000.

Breaking down the figures for October, Hopman said permits were issued for 85 homes at $811,462 and 34 apartments at $914,916. There were eight minor alterations.

ARMISTICE DAY

Armistice Day 1950 finds a world wrought with tension and confused with the forebodings of the Korean conflict.

America's young men are attempting to preserve and spread their heritage of freedom on the far away battlefields of Northeast Asia.

In forwarding that cause, as in the past, thousands of our boys have made the supreme sacrifice. The international emergency promises to contribute more little white crosses to service cemeteries throughout the world.

These G. I.'s join the untold heroes of World Wars I and II who didn't come back.

Now, as never before, with World War III pending, the significance of silent tribute to America's fallen dead becomes more than a yearly custom.

It is a pious obligation on the part of all citizens to prayerfully thank the men who gave their lives in the movement for peace.

More About Colma Controversy

about one-quarter.

Hardship

William Morton, secretary of the estate said the arbitrary one-half acre minimum for building lot sizes would work a hardship on their plans for developing their holdings within the boundaries of Colma.

"This is about four times the average lot size," Morton said.

A decision on the Crocker Estate property was continued until the council's regular meeting next month. However, the general opinion of councilmen is to grant the "exit" request.

Today both Conti and Ottoboni said they will continue to fight the zoning ordinance.

Way Out

Should they fail in their efforts to have the law repealed Ottoboni suggested a possible way out for private prroperty owners, or at least those in northern Colma:

"As we are in need of streets and sewers but we can't get them because of insufficient funds, I believe part of Colma might be annexed to Daly City."

This, he asserted, would also get around the Colma zoning law, and then property owners would be able to develop their lots under the "much more" liberal Daly City zoning law.

Al Palen Buys Building At 5900 Mission

A. N. Palen, owner of the Al Palen Motors, 5900 Mission, today anounced he had purchased the building his company has been in since 1944.

The purchase was made last week from the Archer Estate, Palen said. The all brick one story structure is a familiar sight to Daly City residents as it occupies a V shaped corner only a few blocks north of the Daly City limits.

But more local residents are familiar with the service offered by Palen, who is one of the few authorized Willys Overland dealers in the Bay area.

Specializing in "jeeps" and the more conventional Willys station wagons and sedans, Palen has served the community well over the past six years.

Today, however, much of Palen's business is with the government. In fact, he notes that 90 per cent of his sales are Willys parts to the military.

"I hope the public will drop in and see us anytime during the week," Palen said today, "We always welcome new customers and will be glad to show them the advantages of the Willys models and the jeeps."

Palen also offers complete service for present Willys Overland car and jeep owners.

Police Clean Up "House Cleaners"

Rounding up five juveniles, three of whom were from Daly City, police this week solved one of the most thorough "house cleaning" burglaries in the history of the city.

On October 12 Frank H. Darr, 61 Citrus, reported to police that his house had been burglarized. When police arrived they found the home had been cleaned of everything from the silverware to most of the movable furniture.

During the next weeks police questioned scores of suspects until they finally came upon one who gave them the information they needed to arrest the five young men ranging in age from 14 to 18.

Question-Answer

Questioned by Sgt Roy Beecher, Sgt. Roland Petrocchi and other members of the department, one of the juveniles told the whole story of how they had entered the home through a window and loaded every movable object into a car driven by Manuel Gomez, 18, 131 Lowell street, San Francisco.

The "spotter" for the gang received only a dime bank containing $3 for his trouble. The other young burglars carried off the rest of the loot in Gomez's car.

Today police have recovered most of Darr's stolen property and have charged Gomez with burglary.

Under questioning Gomez also admitted that he had stolen some golf clubs from the Lake Merced Golf and Country club, police said.

Firemen Enjoy Rest Over Last Week-End

With only one minor blaze reported, Daly City firemen enjoyed a peaceful weekend.

The engines from three companies roared out of their garages at 12:25 p.m. Saturday to answer a call in front of 48 Risel street.

When the fire busters arrived they found a PG&E pole on fire. In a matter of minutes they had the blaze under control and had returned to their stations.

The damage was minor, reports show today.

Civilian Defense Courses Requested

Close cooperation between San Francisco and San Mateo County civilian defense boards was called for at the regular meeting of North County Council held in Daly City last Thursday evening.

Admiral Joseph Cook, civilian defense administrator for San Francisco, was the guest speaker of the evening. He addressed councilmen and mayors from Daly City, South San Francisco, Colma, San Bruno and Millbrae.

High Point

High point of his speech was a plea that the principal efforts towards civilian defense should be in the direction of education. He called on a compulsory course at the schools both for adults and children. The course would give residents a briefing on how to keep alive in case of atomic or other forms of attack.

The Admiral also requested that at this time only a skeleton force of officials, police and fire personnel be given jobs in civilian defense. He said the time had not come to use block wardens and individuals outside of city employees.

Honesty Still Runs Small Part Of World

Honesty is still a guiding principle in this world, at least that's the opinion of Garvey Pollard today.

Pollard, who resides at 124 E. Vista, was on his way to the bank Saturday to deposit his pay check. Somewhere along the line he decided that he'd wait until Monday.

A few minutes after he had arrived home the Daly City man received a call from his former newsboy, Robert Bloom, 1240 Brunswick. The Jefferson High school student told Pollard that he had found his paycheck, indorsed and ready to be cashed, in the gutter in front of city hall. Sure enough, when Pollard looked in his wallet the check was missing.

Pollard sent up a small prayer of thanks to heaven and gave Bloom a reward for his honesty.

HOW IT LOOKS FROM A CORNER

of the dead man's worn wallet. There was a picture of himself, his name, a few letters, a torn banknote and tucked down in one corner of the wallet a scrap of newspaper.

One of the fellows who could read German kept the wallet and after the war mailed it to an address on the back of Fritz's picture. However, we kept the bit of newsprint.

We don't know where Fritz got that newspaper, but it was a bitter commentary on November 11, 1944. The newstory was in English and concerned Chamberlain's famous statement: "Peace In Our Time."

There's a moral here somewhere, but not knowing Fritz we've never been able to quite pin it down.

WHAT MAKES HIM RUN?

Now that the elections are over we can sit back and wonder why in the name of common sense a man or woman ever runs for public office.

Take, for example, the post of Senator or Representative in Congress. This, but for the glory of seeing one's name in print and hearing your own voice, is a thankless job. Regardless of what action you take, unless it be to lower taxes and give everyone the benefits of federal projects, there is bound to be vituperative criticism.

Why, then, does a man run for a public ofifce? As we've never had this dubious honor, we're not sure. However, a little conjecture might be in order.

The cynical sum it up as simply a desire to get rich the easy, quick way. They assert that the word "politician" and "crook" are synonomous.

(Here, it is interesting to note that in no other country in the world is a politician looked on with so much mistrust and hatred as in our fair land. In other parts of the globe to be elected to office is an honor, and elected are treated as honorable men.)

On the other hand there are a group who believe in the integrity of their elected officials and their campaign promises. This minority of voters sum up a man's desire for public office as an honest one to better the community and country as a whole.

The third great group of voters, that makes up the majority, usually wil grant that no man either runs for office to fleece or help the public. When these voters cast their ballots they look over the men in the campaign and choose that one which they believe is closest to the ideal. Rarely will they admit that the man they elected is completely honest or completely dishonest. He's just a guy looking for a job, and the voters hope he'll do his job well.

Still, why does a man run for office? There are as many reasons as votes cast, but basically we believe it is simply for a conscious or unconscious love of power coupled with public approval. Every man, less he be a saint or a fool, seeks public acclaim, seeks to control his fellow men. In the politician this striving is simply more pronounced than in the majority of his fellows.

That's our theory. We'd be interested to hear what you as a voter, or a public office holder believe.

ATOMIC ATTACK

An aspect of the Korean war, as well as possible wars to come, was brought home this week with the distribution by the state of the government's best seller "Survival Under Atomic Attack." Within the near future over one million of these pamphlets are to be given local residents.

The purpose of the little booklet is simply to describe the atomic attack and how to keep alive. It is not pleasant reading, but it is a mighty handy thing to have around.

In the center of the pamphlet is a sheet headed by "Six Survival Secrets for Atomic Attacks." The "secrets" are well known to every combat veteran. They are simply: Try to get shielded; Drop flat on ground or floor; Bury your face in your arms; Don't rush outside right after a bombing; Don't take chances with food or water in open containers; Don't start rumors.

Of more comfort is another section in the booklet headed by "Kill the Myth." These "myths" are: Atomic weapons will not destroy the earth, nor will hydrogen bombs, as their over all power still has very definite limits; Doubling bomb power does not double destruction; Radioactivity is not the bomb's greatest threat (blast and heat are by far the greatest dangers); Radiation sickness is not always fatal.

Here's hoping none of us ever have to test the information in this pamphlet.

Boy Scouts To Aid In Civilian Defense

Mobilizing to assist in civilian defense today are the 10,000 boys who compromise the Boy Scouts in San Mateo county.

The boys and their leaders will cooperate in the work of all state and local civil defense agencies, Edward A. Barrer, scout executive, said today.

Barrer announced that representatives of the Boy Scouts of America have consulted with the civil defense staff of the National Security Resources Board. The conference led to this statement which outlines what the Boy Scouts can do in state and local civil defense planning and development:

"The Boy Scouts is nationwide in scope, operating under a federal charter. It has the responsibility of maintaining a program for training boys and young men in scoutcraft, outdoor skills, physical fitness and citizenship responsibilities and in developing character.

"Since the Boy Scouts have more than two and a half million men and boys organized and available for service in practically every community in the United States and its territories, it is desirable that their activities and ability to serve be utilized to advantage by government in carrying out civil defense."

At the request of state and local civilian defense agencies the Boy Scouts, says Barrer, will be prepared to render such services as assisting in organizing training and participating in emergency civil defense messenger service; and assisting the American Red Cross.

SF Site Chosen For New Hospital

The Permanente Foundation today announced the purchase of property in San Francisco as the future site for a new 150-bed hospital.

The hospital will be the fifth in the Bay Area built by The Permanente Foundation, a non-profit, charitable trust established by Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kaiser.

The new San Francisco property, purchased for $66,000 from the Mayfair Heights Corporation, comprises one-half of the city block bounded by Geary, O'Farrrell and Lyon Streets and St. Joseph Avenue in the Anza Vista District.

Construction of a six-story hospital is expected to begin in the near future. It will be privately financed.

The property transaction was handled by George H. Horton of Oakland and Chester MacPhee of San Francisco as co-brokers.

Other Permanente Foundation hospital locations in the Bay Area include Oakland, Richmond, Vallejo and the Harbor Hospital in San Francisco.

CHECK CONDITION

The wise motorist sees that the mechanical condition of his car is right, according to the National Automobile Club. Worn or damaged tires, faulty brakes, or a defective steering wheel mechanism can turn a careful driver into a highway menace.

LITTLE COURTESIES

On the highway, little courtesies often prevent big accidents, declares the National Automobile Club.

Drivers who would rather be safe than sorry use the engine as a brake when descending a steep grade, declares the National Automobile Club.

Regardless of condition or age of your home, we'll pay spot cash for it now! If you've considered selling, you'd better act now, while values are at their peak.

WESTLAKE WHIRL

by Marian Christians PLaza 5-0946

Harry Bosberry, well-liked secretary of the Westlake Improvement Association, has come home from the hospital after an eight-day confinement period. He is recovering from a thypus-like ailment which had the doctors puzzled.

A teen-age king and queen reigned over Westlake's big Hallowe'en party last week. His nibs was Neil Vannucci, 14, of 33 Cliffside, while his lady friend was queen Ruth Kvamme, 10½, of 63 Cliffside.

The royal pair was so honored because they were winners in a bean guessing contest. Attending the duo were Richard Mollison, 9, of 89 Fieldcrest, and Renee Marie Le Tourneau, of 110 Wilshire.

Jean Ellis, 106 Westlake, followed the king and queen in her very effective witch costume. Helen Franges, 110 Westdale, led the costume parade dressed as a ghost.

After the parade, the children enjoyed prizes, candy, cookies, ice cream, and many other refreshments.

Hopalong Cassidy literally struck home in Westlake last week. One of young Lonnie Franges pals socked him on the head with a toy six-shooter. Result: the felled cowboy had to have two stitches taken in his head.

Two birthdays were celebrated as one two weeks ago as the mothers of Lori Jo Zeisler, 2, and Skippy Tozzi, 3, prepared a joint party for the infants. Among the guests were Lee Lester, Billy Throne, Gary Malespina, Lonnie and Michael Franges, Janice and Jimmy Cohn, Chuck Borio, Bill Hagen, and Barbara and Jean Votaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Fontenot, 241 Wilshire, have returned from a 7,500 mile motor trip which required a month. They visited Yellowstone, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Memphis, Jackson, New Orleans, San Antonio, San Diego, and Mexico on their excursion.

Mrs. Milton F. Anderson, who was in charge of the white elephant booth at the recent church bazaar wishes to publicly thank all Westlake women who contributed to the success of the project.

Major George Gutterman, brother of Mrs. Harold Forbes, 110 Wilshire avenue, has been house guest at this sister's home the past week. Major Gutterman just returned from 3½ years in Germany. He will leave for New York soon to be reassigned.

Westlake residents are having mosquito trouble. The tiny pests are breeding in great numbers in the region of the Lake.

NEWS OF YOUR NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Hazel C. Vigna, 487 Templeton, today is recovering from the after effects of the storm that struck here two weeks ago. At the time of the gale Mrs. Vigna and her mother Mrs. Alice Ulrich, 103 Irvington, were shopping in a San Francisco market. The two women were directly under a skylight in the building when the wind buckled the glass. Mrs. Vigna succeeded in pushing her mother out of danger, but she was struck on the head by several large pieces of glass. Rushed to Junipero Serra hospital, the Daly City woman was treated for head cuts and shock. It wasn't until a week later that all the glass was removed from her scalp, Mrs. Vigna said.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grubbs, 1728 Sweetwood drive, have a first edition to the family today. She is Anna Marie, born Saturday, November 4, 9 p.m. at the Mt. Zion hospital. When Anna first saw the light of day she weighed 6 pounds 7 ounces. Both father and mother are doing nicely today, and Anna is loud in her approval of her family.

Mrs. Agatha Heyden, 231 Los Olivos and Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, 139 Irvington last Wednesday attended a reception honoring Mrs. James Roosevelt. The reception and tea was held at the Colonial Ball Room, St. Francis Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Heskett, 824 Beechwood drive, this week welcomed a second member to their family. He is Allen K. Heskett, born November 4 at Franklin hospital. Young Allen has a brother Eddie. Residents along Beechwood drive note that Eddie and Mr. and Mrs. Heskett are doing nicely.

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

There is much that has been said, and much still to be said about the elections, but others can say much more, much better than this reporter, so for the most part, we will leave it to the better informed. One big local interest is the new sheriff, Earl Whitmore. We in Bayshore are for the most part, wondering what, if any, changes his election to office will bring to us. The cards are down, so we wish him good luock and good hunting.

The big Cow Palace show is over for another short year, and Bayshore is just now settling back to its everyday living. The biggest majority of us like to see the show come in, but we sigh with relief when it is over. It presents a nuisance to many of the residents, particularly on Rio Verde St. The livestock excite pets, and dogs bark late into the night. Straw and papers decorate lawns and gardens, and housewives wield flyswatters early and late.

Show Feature

There is one feature of the show that is not desirable at any time. That is the back gate, at Rio Verde and Partridge Sts. For some reason, known only to the Cow Palace staff, this back gate is used to run the majority of the livestock into the grounds, notwithstanding the fact that there is a large rear gate on Geneva Ave., just above Rio Verde. The Partridge St. gate is also used to admit stockmen and exhibitors vehicles, and Rio Verde is turned into a speedway for this traffic.

The only argument that presents itself to many of us, is that most of the heavy trucks pull in here from Bayshore highway, and in lining up to pull into the Geneva St. gate, they might cause a traffic tie-up. This argument isn't very good when you consider the fact that they must create the same tie-up in making a left-hand turn into Rio Verde St.

This matter, large to some in the valley should be acted upon. Why don't some of you drop down to an Improvement Club meeting and ask that a letter be written to the Cow Palace, questioning the wisdom of this heavy traffic, that not only creates a certain traffic hazard, but also will inevitably mean street repairs at a much earlier date than our normal light weight traffic would demand?

Dinner Party

The Mr. & Mrs. Club is throwing a spaghetti dinner this Friday evening for members and their friends. Sounds good and fattening.

Our new dry good store at 2950 Geneva Ave., next to the Sanatation Hall, opened with a flourish Thursday. Mrs. Reilly and her daughter, Mrs. Toich, both bear the name Leta, so the shop bears the name of the Leta May Shop. A nice line of light yardage, hose, and notions, and at a price that is in line with the larger down-town stores. Good luck to all of our new enterprises in Bayshore.

Has anybody here seen Skipper? Skipper is one of a pair of lively little fox terriers, belonging to Mrs. Salsbery. He dissappeared a few evenings ago, and the whole family misses him. He is white, with ten ears. Any of you that may have seen him, please call Mrs. Salsbery, at JU. 4-0869, or call me.

Birthdays

Friday evening, Nov. 17, is Father's Night at the Bayshore PTA evening meeting. They are featuring a football film for the Dads, so come on down and see the picture and have coffee and refreshments at the School Auditorium.

Birthdays make the news this week. Reverend Widenham, of our Baptist Church, was given a surprise birthday party after the services last Sunday. They lured him back to the church with mention of repairs, and when he arrived, some forty people were present to sing Happy Birthday. They had a basket lunch and there was a small gift shower. Many happy returns Reverend.

Another birthday was celebrated by the Harper twins. Little Janie and Jeanie, aged four, were given a birthday party last Monday, and neighboring children attended.

Still another birthday was celebrated in Mrs. Rachel Higgins Cub Scout Den. Young Roy Reitz, one of the Cubs, had a birthday on the day of their regular Den meeting, so it was turned into a celebration to mark the event.

This Sunday the morning topic at the Baptist Church will be "Triumph in Christ." The evening topic will be "A Passing Scene."

Musical Night

There will be a musical night at the Baptist Church on the 17th of November. Musical talent from the area will entertain. They valley is invited to enjoy the evening performance, beginning at 7:30.

There is a rumour in the air that Don Vallero, one of the members of our Fire Commission is selling his home to move farther down the peninsula. Don is the newest member of the Commission, but his wife's health is poor in this climate, and Don feels that a warmer climate will perk her up a bit. Sorry to lose you so soon Mr. Vallero.

Our respite from heavy traffic will be short lived. The basket ball games are soon to begin in the Cow Palace. No more has been heard about the Government stepping in to take over the Cow Palace again in the near future, so business as usual is the rule of the day.

Colma Palomino Wins Coveted Prize

Eddy claims this is quite an honor, as horses entered in the show come from every corner of the country and globe.

With this success, Eddy today said he would now devote his full time to raising horses. At the present he is manager and owner of the Arabian Acres where there are now seven prize palominos and six arabians.

Burglars Make Haul At Merced Golf Shop

Burglars with a yen for golfing broke into the Lake Merced Golf Course shop sometime Tuesday night and carried off verious sporting items, police reported today.

The theft was reported Wednesday morning by Pat Maloney, manager of the shop. Maloney said the thieves got away with three pair of golf shoes, sport shirts, golf balls and several jackets.

Entry was gained by breaking a rear window and using a jimmy to spread the bars over the window, police report.

Police Solve deLeon Burglary

The second in a series of recent Daly City burglaries was cleared up this week by Daly City police with the arrest of Robert R. Miller, 19, 97 Vendome.

Police report Miller has admitted burglarizing the deLeon Music Store, 6129 Mission, September 12. Several radios, musical instruments and 30 was taken in this burglary.

Miller has been booked on suspicion of burglary.

Mission Trails Confab Slated In S. L. Obispo

San Luis Obispo is the site of next months' California Mission Trails Convention, a gathering of peoples who promote and encourage tourist and native travel along the old routes of early California history.

Plans are underway for a big program on December 2 and 3, according to Jack White, chairman of the California Mission Trails Convention Committee.

Edwin L. Carty, Mission Trails Association President, announced that more out-of-state tourists visited California during the summer this year than in any previous year. He was proud to report that a great majority of the visitors journeyed up and down the Mission Trails from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

Bill Passage Changes County Judicial Setup

Passage of State Proposition No. 3 which calls for "inferior court reorganization" directly affects San Mateo County's ten city judges in more than one way.

By virtue of the amendment, the ten judges, including Daly City's William J. Sweeney, must seek election if they are to remain in judicial capacities. Originally, they were appointed by their respective city councils.

Another change authorized by the approved measure is that from now on anyone elected to a judgeship must be an attorney. This will not effect those now in office. Sweeney and three other judges are not attorneys.

Still another possibility arising from passage of the amendment will be redistricting by the board of supervisors of present township to judicial districts.

The supervisors will decide in the near future whether San Mateo County will be redistricted, according to Miss Elinor Falvey, president of the San Mateo County Bar Association and a deputy district attorney.

If present township boundaries are retained throughout the county, the districts which are now townships, 4 (Half Moon Bay) and 5 (Burlingame) would be justice court districts, while those which are now townships, 1 (South San Francisco-Daly City) and 2 (San Mateo) would be municipal court districts.

Offices of the justices, whose titles probably would become municipal judges, will be full-time under the terms of the amendment.

WORLD BEATER

Every Dad thinks his son is going to be a "world-beater." He's not counting on his youngster to floor the Champ for a count of ten, but he dreams of the day his boy will triumph over every obstacle to happiness and success.

"World-beater" is a pretty descriptive name for what Dad envisions. The world is full of forces that destroy the best in a man. To make your life count for anything these days you have to vanquish those forces.

It takes courage and stamina to win the struggle . . . a very special kind of courage that is more spiritual than physical . . . a very special kind of stamina that is more moral than muscular.

Sunday morning is a good time to begin. Weekly training in the Church can help father and son to gain the courage and stamina that will win every bout in life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

William Haugers (Shirley McGlynn) Now At Home In DC After San Bruno Rites

Now at home in Daly City are the justweds Mr. and Mrs. William Hauger (Shirley McGlynn). They repeated vows at a ceremony Sunday at the Methodist Church in San Bruno.

The 2 o'clock afternoon nuptials were performed by The Rev. Andrew Juivinall and were followed by a reception at the bride's home.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Arvid Peterson, 530 San Diego. She chose a white lace gown styled with peter pan collar, a bodice which buttoned down the front and a ruffled skirt of lace and net and an underskirt of taffeta. She completed her costume with a finger tip veil held in place with a crown of velvet leaves covered with net.

The bride carried an old fashioned bouquet of two white orchids, bouvardia and satin streamers.

In the something old, something new department Shirley had a blue garter, her mother's pearls and a borrowed penny in her shoe.

Janet Hackley, Shirley's cousin, served as maid of honor and secondary attendants were Barbara Lambert, Barbara Hauger and Joyce McGlynn. Their gowns were of satin and lace styled along simple lines to match the bride's dress.

They carried old fashion bouquets with satin streamers and wore halos of white flowers in their hair.

Don Sichard was best man. Those who escorted guests to their seats were Dan Westergard, Mary Harmon, Dave Neusser and Bill Kahler.

Mrs. Hauger of San Bruno chose a light green dress for her son's wedding and Mrs. Peterson appeared in a toast crepe beaded dress. Both mothers pinned on orchid corsages. Both wore black accessories.

Following the reception, the newlyweds were honored at a dinner at Lyles. There were 19 guests including Mrs. Emily McKay, grandmother to the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Kern of Kentfield.

Shirley, who graduated from Jefferson High school, is now employed with the Sterling Furniture Company.

The groom is also an employee of the same furniture company and is a graduate of San Mateo High school.

Fontana Family Tells Of Four Months In Italy

Back home after a four-month vacation in Italy is the Fontana family, 143 Citrus avenue, Daly City.

Gisberto Fontana and his wife Olga and their two children, Gilbert, 15, and Olivia, 7, returned to their local residence two weeks ago.

The Fontanas left New York City in late June on the Volcania to Genoa, Italy. From that port they proceeded to Moderna, a hamlet in northern Italy near Florence, where they stayed with relatives.

Mrs. Fontana's father and Mr. Fontana's father both live in Moderna.

During their say there, the Fontanas made several short trips to the oceanside. Also they journeyed from Moderna to Monte Casini and fabled Rome. They remained a week in the storied capital of the Roman era.

"I never knew one family could have so many relatives," Mrs. Fontana said. "It seemed that everywhere we went in Italy someone was related to us."

The Fontanas left Genoa for New York in late September aboard the Cante Biancano. On their return cross-country jaunt, they stopped off in Chicago for a week. There they were entertained by still more relatives.

"We had a wonderful time and saw some beautiful sights," Mrs. Fontana admitted, "but it's nice to be back."

She informed that the trip was her first since she left Italy 16 years ago. It was Mr. Fontana's second return to the country of his birth.

Cub Pack 36 Has Big Turn Out For Halloween Fete

By Mrs. E. K. Whinnen

Hallowe'en seems a long time past, but a few high lights on the parties held at the meeting of Pack 36, and of the two Daly City dens of that pack, 15 and 16.

The party given by Pack 36, drew one of the largest turnouts yet. Sponsors and den mothers were more than gratified by the interest shown by parents in their sons. The costumes were of a very spooky variety, and top prize for the boys was an electric baseball game. Top prize for the girls was a vanity set, and all youngsters were given candy bars, just to make them happy.

The skit for the party was put on by den 15, den-mothered by Alice Tylenda, and all reports have it that it was "tops" in skits, so far this season. It was about a little boy who didn't believe in "spooks." The stage and room were darkened and before his unbelieving eyes, one spook after another was conjured up, to make his flesh crawl. Even the "Spook" of Whistler's Mother, was there.

So much for the Pack meeting. Dens 15 and 16 each gave parties of their own too. At each den party the boys baked their own cakes. Looks as if there are going to be some pretty good cooks in this area in a few years, judging from reports on those cakes. The boys reported having a wonderful time at each party.

Here are the names of the boys, in case you should need a cake some day and haven't time to bake it yourself. Mothers, take note. These are the boys in den 15: John Fern, Barry Polk, Larry and Danny Caratti, James Gerlack, Phillip Phillip, Larry Lindy and Ronald Perrin.

The future cooks in den 16 are: Gene Whinnen, Jerry Tylenda, Leonard Burke, Angelo Cassini, Jerry Irwin, Russel Duckering, Jerry Rosenberg, Roy Martin, Bill Pfeifer, Ira Ingersoll, and Jimmy Martin. Jimmy is a new boy in the den, having gone to his first pack meeting the night of the Halloween party.

Fine Cast Promised For Jeff High Presentation of "Stage Door" Nov. 17

"The finest cast I have ever worked with" was the comment of Miss Eunice Seaton at Jefferson Union High School where she is directing the school play, "Stage Door," to be presented in the High School Auditorium on Nov. 17 at 8:15 p.m. Jean London is her student director.

"Stage Door" is the story of Terry Randall, a promising young actress who rejects a movie offer and endures a variety of hardships in order to remain in the Broadway theatre she loves. She watches a brillian young playwright she admires lose his ideals when he wins a Hollywood contract, sees one of her girl friends lose heart and accept a film bid before she has even learned to act, and sees another take the easiest way rather than admit defeat in the Big Town. But Terry Randall keeps making the rounds of the manager's offices and finally wins a fine part in a fine play that will establish her in the theatre to which she has dedicated herself.

Mary Lou Morris will be seen as the stage-struck Terry Randal in Jefferson High's production of "Stage Door," while Ken Willbanks will play the part of Keith Burgess, the left-wing playwright who goes Hollywood. Other important roles will be portrayed by Cecilia Sullivan, Lorraine Cady, Al Johnson, Sharon Girard, Gloria Watkins and Frank Garcia.

Set in a girls' theatrical boarding house in New York City's West Fifties, "Stage Door" offers a behind-the-scenes glimpse into a seldom-explored side of the glittering, and often heart-breaking world of the living theatre. Garnished with dialogue that snaps and crackles, the comedy hit is from the pens of the famed Kaufman-Ferber writing team which has also been responsible for such other well-remembered successes as "Dinner At Eight," and "The Royal Family."

Tickets for "Stage Door" are on sale at the Anchor Drug Store in Colma, Lee's Pharmacy in Daly City and Jefferson High School.

Story Of A Tenderfoot At Mills Park: Girl Scouts Get Camp-Out Information

By Helen Ann Hickey
Leader Troop Twelve

Thursday, November 2, at 3 p.m., found yours truly arriving at the Mills Estate on El Camino Real, to spend the afternoon and evening with other troop leaders, camping out, as a climax to the Girl Scout course entitled "How to take your troop on an overnight."

Members participating in this final session included: Mrs. Mae Mann, South San Francisco; Mrs. Hilda Heagney, Daly City; Mrs. Angie Thur, Daly City; Mrs. Doris Mansergh, Millbrae; Mrs. Ellen O'Leary, Millbrae and this correspondent. In charge of instruction was Mrs. Edward E. Gould, staff member, and Miss Carolyn Passoneau who was our guest. It might be well to mention here that all leaders participating in the overnight were required to have had previous training in "Girl Scout Leadership" and "Outdoor Cooking."

Preliminary Meetings

Three sessions of two hours each preceeded the actual overnight. During these meetings leaders were trained in knot tying and lashing, the proper method of making a bed roll and of packing gear neatly in the same bed roll. The group was divided into two patrols and worked out their plans for the overnight with each member of a patrol being assigned specific tasks. One of the aforementioned sessions was spent on the camp site itself (just north of Ray Park) for preliminary work in setting up camp. Our first step was to decide on the location of our bedroom, kitchen, dining rom and bathroom and then to begin building our outdoor home. Everyone set to with a will and what was finally to be a well laid out camp was begun.

With everyone being previously advised as to the necessary equipment to bring, we finally gathered at the Mills Estate at the appointed time. With the daylight hours so short, it seemed to your scribe a big undertaking to complete the many tasks ahead before darkness would set in but I brushed all such thoughts aside and joined Patrol One in the completion of kitchen and latrine, etc., facalities. Shortly thereafter it was suggested that I start a fire so that dinner might be prepared. Despite the handicap of damp wood, owing to our recent heavy rain, I managed to get a good fire going, for which I was certainly thankful as it would hardly have said much for my previous experience in firebuilding had I flunked this chore.

As darkness was now setting in, Mrs. Gould advised us to get our bed rolls down and select a spot in our "bedroom" for the night. I placed my sleeping bag near an atractive stump which served as a dressing table and gave the locale a homey air.

Returning to the fire, I assisted in the cooking of supper which consisted of American chop suey, toasted garlic bread, walking salad, baked apples and coffee. I still maintain there is nothing quite so heavenly as food cooked in the open over a campfire and this meal was no exception.

Stars Studied

When we had washed our dishes and tidied our camp for the evening, we all sat around the main fire of our dining room and engaged in singing followed by a lesson in star study by Mrs. Gould. We were very fortunate in having an exceptionally clear night in which to study the heavens. I have never given much thought to the subject but am happy to report that I should now be able to point out to my troop at least a few constellations such as the Big Dipper, Little Dipper, Orion, Taurus, and the Pleiades or "the seven sisters." Mrs. Gould wound up the lesson by reading to us a few interesting legends about the stars.

A Pantomime Adventure

A very amusing portion of our evening at the campfire was participation in a pantomime of "Bess, the Innkeeper's Daughter." I am sure many of you are familiar with this 19th century epic of narrative verse which, once a serious poem, is today open to lighter interpretation. Mrs. Ellen O'Leary as the lovely Bess in her wig of rope was most fetching but the star performer was Mis Carolyn Passoneau as the Highwayman. Mounted on her steed (the limb of a tree) she looked more like a rooster in the flickering firelight and pranced and performed nobly to an appreciative audience. The narrator was Mrs. Mansergh. Upon completion of this little skit we seated ourselves round the campfire for a song fest and were joined by Miss Mary Woodworth who stopped in to pay us a visit.

At about 10:30 p.m. the fire was put out and preparations made for bed, with flashlights out at 11 p.m. Peace and quiet descended upon our camp broken only by the whistle of trains, occasional planes overhead and the constant crackle of twigs and rustle of leaves. I must admit I raised my head from my pillow more often than once to peer into the moonlight and the lurking shadows. This being my very first experience at sleeping on the ground in the open possibly excuses me for having a slight case of the jitters. I finally scolded myself, shut my eyes and drifted off to sleep, only to be wakened by a stray dog at 4 a.m. I shooed him away and philosophically went back to sleep.

Homeward Bound

At 6:40 a.m. I was gently wakened by a song rendered in true camp spirit by Mrs. Gould and after the initial shock of waking to my strange surroundings wore off I courageously dressed, washed and began the morning chores which were light since Patrol Two was responsible for breakfast. Patrol One was assigned to the flag ceremony which began our morning. I had the honor of being flag bearer and enjoyed participating in this ceremony, never having done so before.

The welcome call to breakfast was received with heartiest approval and after three slices of french toast, four slices of bacon, one egg and three cups of coffee, I was well prepared to face the task of cleaning up camp. Patrol One held a Scout's Own, a little ceremony in which a poem, a song and verses were read. Preceeding our leave taking we all joined Mrs. Gould for a short discussion and evaluation of our camping experience. Incidentally, we were informed that in order to pass the course and receive credit for same, it would be necessary to take our outw troop on an overnight.

As to my own personal evaluation of the course through this very fine experience, I feel capable of taking my troop on an overnight without misgivings. I will of course make mistakes but only in actual experience can we gain knowledge and I have gained immeasurably through my first overnight. And a happy "overnight" to you!

Wilbur Fellows Now In Mexico

Wilbur fellows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fellows, 176 Los Banos avenue, has enrolled at Mexico City College where he is majoring in Spanish and is an important addition to the college's football team.

Stressing international understanding, Mexico City College is a cosmopolitan institution and the only American type college in Latin America. Students learn much of the language and social customs of the country by taking advantage of the college housing service which places them in the homes of Mexican families or aids them in locating apartments or boarding houses.

A majority of the students come from the United States with California having the largest representation, and are widening their viewpoints through association with a faculty and student body drawn from five continents.

Students are particularly enthusiastic about the favorable rate of exchange (8.6 pesos for one dollar) which enables even those living on G. I. allotments to travel to many interesting sections of Mexico during vacation periods.

Fellows is a graduate of Jefferson Union High School and spent two years with the Army as well as attending the University of California and Washington State College before going to Mexico.

Daly City Library To Observe Book Week November 12 to 18

By Lorraine DeFanti
(Daly City Librarian, j.g.)

"Books are keys to wisdom's treasure;
Books are gates to lands of pleasure;
Books are paths that upward lead;
Books are friends. Come let us read."

Yes, come to your Daly City Public Library and make friends with books during National Book Week, which this year takes place November 12 through November 18.

Although we realize that our interest in children's reading habits should not be for this Week only, yet by having this one special Week we reaffirm our own interest and catch the attention of others who may think that children's reading is not their concern. It is everyone's concern. The parent's concern is necessarily the greatest for only they can really know how their children are changing from one day to the next, how they are transformed from one year to the next.

However, we should not feel that to be interested in books for children is just a duty which we are obligated to fu'fill, but we should also realize that it is a delight. We are lucky, young and old alike to have this excuse, this occasion to talk about them together, to enjoy again some of the books we already own, and to be able to sample some of the new books which the best of our authors and artists are writing and illustrating. Of course there is no single recipe or no specific path which parents and others can follow that will help them to find a way to the books their boys and girls will most enjoy. For each child is different—different in taste, temperament, background and in his hopes and desires. Fortunately, because the books themselves vary so greatly, these individual differences can usually be satisfied.

It is extremely important for all to remember that there should be no atmosphere of urgency or coercion surrounding a child when he is being helped to "choose books" for himself. For if a child is forced to read the type of book for which he has no taste, and perhaps which he even dislikes heartily, but feels he must read because his adult guide has made him feel duty-bound to do so, then rather than encouraging and inculcating a love for reading in the child, this adult may be guilty of discouraging and even destroying any seeds of literary interest which may have previously existed.

One of the best ways to begin on the path of finding the right book for your child is to start with the standard and accepted books first, gradually evolving toward the youngster's individual tastes and needs. If in beginning his reading career, a child is guided by his parents' devoted interest, his teachers' knowledge of his ability, and the librarians' insight into reading needs, before long the boys and girls themselves aided by their individual instincts will be capable of finding their own paths to the right books.

Such organizations as the Children's Book Council, the national headquarters for Book Week, sponsored and financed by the association of Children's Book Editors, help to put the cause of children's reading squarely before the whole community and, community by community, across the whole nation. Today, more and more people are beginning to recognize the important part good books play in the development of youngsters.

The Book Council serves simply as headquarters for Book Week, always ready and willing to back any project which aims at furthering the cause of more and better books for more children. Its services are available to all, free of charge.

But because there is no fived program for the celebration of Book Week or for the promotion of books throughout the year, it is up to each community, each group or individual to work in the manner best suited to local needs and the means available. Do your part toward promoting interest in Book Week by coming to the library sometime between November 12 and 18.

Let this visit serve as an initial step toward becoming acquainted with your local library, and familiarizing yourself with the services and facilities available there.

Legion Auxiliary Seeks Strength For Service

Increased strength for greater service to America and to those who have defended the nation will be sought by the American Legion Auxiliary in a membership campaign beginning Nov. 10, it has been announced by Mrs. Minnie Bernardi, President of Daly City Unit 410.

An invitation to come into the Auxiliary and take part in its activities during the coming year will be extended to all eligible women in the city, Mrs. Minine Bernardi stated. Eligible for membership are wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of American Legion members or of deceased veterans of either World War, and women who themselves were in war service.

The campaign will be directed by Mrs. Mary Gilbert, Unit membership chairman, assisted by the other members of the membership committee. A large corps of workers will carry personal invitations to the eligible women.

"We believe that at this time all women of war-service families want to serve actively for our country and its defenders," said Mrs. Bernardi. "In the American Legion Auxiliary we can offer them opportunity for effective service in many fields. We are well organized and already in action. Nearly one million women already are serving in the Auxiliary's 13,500 Units throughout the country. But the situation today calls for even greater strength. We have places for two million women in our work. Every woman who joins gives us that much more strength to carry out our activities for the security of America and for the welfare of our war veterans and their families."

D. C. Sportswomen Attend District Council Dinner

The Daly City Sportswomen were well represented at the installation dinner of District Council Seven.

The first president of the Sportswomen, Frances Nenstiel, attended, likewise the incoming president, Mildred Whinnen, and the incoming vice-president, Laurien Fox.

The dinner was excellent, with a choice of steak or chicken, and all the trimmings. Many passed up the steak, thinking it would be tough, but those lucky ones who ordered it, were very happy about their choice. Many envious glances were passed their way.

After the dinner, Ed Moore, reserve patrol warden and master of ceremonies, made a short talk and introduced many eminent sportsmen, from the Associated Sportsmen. All stated their aims at conservation of fish and game and asked the help of all sportsmen's clubs in this work. They pointed out the magnitude of the job ahead and of the need for each sportsman to do his share if these resources are to be preserved for the sportsmen's use.

Introductions over, the installation took place. The new officers, at the conclusion of the ceremonies took the Sportsmen's Oath, which is definitely on the humorous side, dealing in part, with those tall stories about the "big ones" that get away.

TARTANS TAKE THE LEAD

By TOM TREVOR—ANS Features

"Who may wear a Tartan?" and "What is my Tartan?" are questions frequently asked. For those of Scottish descent the answer is, wear any tartan associated with one's name, or with the name of any ancestor. When one can find no name associated with the tartan, it is considered correct to wear any of the Royal or Regimental tartans.

In this country, however, many tartans are worn by people not necessarily of Scottish descent. They wear them for their beauty and decoration, or because of the uncanny ability of a tie made up from a tartan to harmonize with almost any costume.

High on the season's gift lists, therefore, are these authentic Scottish Tartans—three of a variety of sixty-one colorful patterns with an authoritative Scotch flavor by "Botany."

To clear up a confusing point, and be absolutely correct, we use the word "tartan" instead of "plaid." "Tartan" is a pattern or design. "Plaid" is a garment, a blanket-like mantle which is folded in various ways and joined at the shoulder with a large brooch. In America, however, through common usage, the word "plaid" is sometimes used to designate "tartan."

The ties pictured above, which sell for the modest price of $1.50, feature a "disciplined" fabric that springs back to original freshness after every wearing. We guess that's why they call them "Botany" Brand Wrinkle-Proof ties.

COMFORTABLE SHORTS, newly styled . . . These improved boxer shorts by "Arrow" caught our eye as a mighty slick gift idea, whether his name is MacGregor or just plain Smith. Though they're not an authentic tartan, the gay colorful pattern is mighty good looking.

One feature that wins our hearty approval is the Gripper Fastener closure which holds the garment firmly in place and prolongs the life of the elastic at the waistband.

These shorts are made to withstand the rigors of laundering too. Of fine quality pre-shruk cotton in fast colors, there is no worry about colors fading or the shorts shrinking out of fit. Even the Gripper Fasteners are rust-proof, so they won't stain the material

Art Exhibit Opens At Keller's Art Gallery Monday

An art exhibit featuring three well known Bay Area artists, two of whom are from Daly City, will be shown at Keller's Art Galleries, 6789 Mission, beginning Monday.

The exhibit of 25 paintings will be on display at Keller's from Monday to December 15.

George W. Clapper, 250 Los Banos, will share honors in the three man show with Alice de Boton, 50 W. Moltke street, and George, a well known local artist.

In keeping with Keller's desire to bring fine art to Daly City, the month long show will feature a variety of paintings. They will be displayed in a special gallery set aside by Keller for this purpose.

Those who enjoy marine scenes will find much to admire in Clapper's works. Over the past years Clapper has painted a variety of sea scapes which have won acclaim among both artists and the laymen.

For those who would rather keep their eyes and feet on land Alice deBoton's landscapes will indeed be of interest. Employing the style of modern realism, Alice deBoton has captured the true essence of the quiet landscape. These paintings should appeal to all regardless of taste in art.

Then there are the abstract paintings of George. Following the lead of Picasso, Bracque and other members of the French cubist and expressionism schools, George has painted abstracts which will please those with a modern taste in art. Any of these canvasses will be ideal for the home decorated in the ultra-modern motif.

Keller invites the public, regardless of their taste in art, to drop in any time during the next weeks and spend a profitable few minutes examining the art exhibit.

A few years after their marriage the couple moved to San Francisco where they spent 13 years. Just six years ago they moved to Daly City.

Voboril is employed as a pressman for the San Francisco Examiner, and his wife is well known in Daly City for her participation in community affairs.

"Impy" Shows True Colors For Medal

"Impy," a four year old gentleman cat residing at the home of Mrs. Sue Adams, 138 Santa Cruz, came through with black colors last week to win a feline championship.

The beautiful black specimen, registered under the name of "Nani-Lei Victory Aumor," took the championship in two classes for the best black cat in the San Francisco Cat Club show November 4 and 5. The championship was won in both the solid color specialty and the all-breed specialty.

Although "Impy" has won many ribbons in previous shows this was his first championship.

Cat lovers will have another chance to see the Daly City pride of the feline world at the San Francisco Cat Fanciers show in San Francisco November 18 and 19.

The show, to be held at the Coliseum Bowl, 45 Eleventh street, will be the largest cat show on the Pacific Coast, Mrs. Adams, show manager, said today.

Featured in the all-breed show will be three main classes: Silver specialty, Solid color and Siamese Specialty.

NATIONAL PRESS BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

By Anne Goede

"Neither soup nor stew has to have islands of floating fat. If you let them cool, the fat will harden and rise to the top, so it can easily be lifted off. Or place ice cubes in cheese cloth and draw them across the surface — the fat will adhere to the ice.

Table mats, so convenient and pretty, are really lovely in linen and cotton damask. What's more, you can make them yourself from stained or scorched tablecloths. Dye the old cloth with all purpose dye to harmonize with your dinnerware. Then cut out rectangles at least 20" x 12" and hem.

The next time you're sprinkling confectioners' sugar on a cake, do it over a paper-lace doily. The sugar falls through the holes and forms a design, so when you lift the doily off, you have a pretty lace-patterned sugar top.

Do you overlook the under part of suede shoes? A quick touch of the brush keeps the uppers clean, but you also need a bit of the ole' shinola on the sole edge and underneath the heel.

Herb cookery has no set list of rules. But some herbs have a close affinity for certain foods, like sage for pork, basil for tomato and cheese, marjoram for lamb, thyme for clam chowder and tarragon for eggs. These may not be rules, but they're safe bets.

Is a large company "good" for the community?

...meet Henry Bertholas and friends for the answer!

Henry Bertholas, Fall River Mills, started over 40 years ago digging gas mains for one of our predecessor companies. Today he's manager of the Pit River District. Like many another of P. G. and E.'s 16,500 employees, Henry has found time to serve his community—for several terms as school trustee; and as fire commissioner. To his neighbors in Shasta County, Henry Bertholas is P. G. and E.!

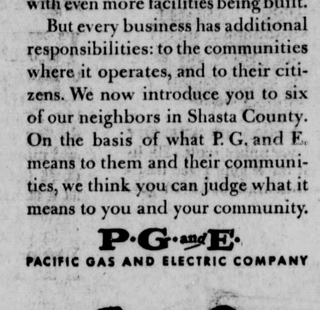
Our main job is to see that you have all the gas and electricity you need at the lowest possible rate. You can judge how efficiently we do that job by two facts: the rates you pay are among the lowest in the nation—and plentiful reserves have already been provided by our record-breaking postwar expansion program, with even more facilities being built.

But every business has additional responsibilities: to the communities where it operates, and to their citizens. We now introduce you to six of our neighbors in Shasta County. On the basis of what P. G. and E. means to them and their communities, we think you can judge what it means to you and your community.

Harry Horr, of Glenburn, rancher and sawmill operator in the northern country for 50 years. Mr. Horr once said: "When P. G. and E. and its predecessor companies came into Shasta County 64 years ago, it helped put a lot of local folks in business, and we're still benefiting by it—just as are the folks who get their power at low rates."

P·G·and·E·
PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

This is Frank Linebeck, Superintendent of Elementary Schools, Anderson District. Few of Shasta County's leaders know better than he how valuable a citizen and neighbor is P. G. and E. For the company pays nearly half of all school taxes that support Shasta County's fine schools.



Meet Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Balma, of Redding. Along with more than 169,000 other P. G. and E. stockholders, they have invested a portion of their savings in our stock. Not only does this investment pay them a return, but helps finance P. G. and E.'s widespread expansion program to assure you a continuing, adequate supply of low-cost gas and electricity.

Here's W. N. Hogg, owner of his own Variety Store in Anderson. To merchants and businessmen, as well as the folks who work in Shasta County, P. G. and E.'s investment of $68,000,000 in property, and annual payrolls of $1,668,000—have meant better business, a more prosperous community in which to live.

THIS WINSOME MISS is 22-year-old Barbara Gibson, who will star on NBC's Monday evening "Telephone Hour" November 27th for the fourth time. Barbara made her debut on this program in 1949 and the music world has an eye on her because she is the first young American coloratura to come along in some time. The listeners' reaction was sensational and several national magazines praised her highly. A Carnegie Hall debut on the "Telephone Hour" and an appearance at a Yale Bowl Concert with an audience of 11,000 followed. This fall, Barbara makes her first recordings for RCA-Victor.

RADIO REGISTERED another scoop this season when NBC's "Cavalcade of America" signed lovely Loretta Young to play the lead on "Whither Thou Goest" —the story of Andrew Johnson's wife. Loretta, at the age of 5, was making mud pies in her back yard when she learned from her uncle that a movie job awaited her. She was dusted off—taken to the studio and her career began. Its only interruption was the necessary business of getting an education. Du Pont's "Cavalcade" brings top talent to the microphone each Tuesday evening in historical dramas.

WORLD'S BIGGEST radio studio — NBC's famous 8-H — has been converted to television at Robert Montgomery's suggestion. And his hour-long production, "Your Lucky Strike Theatre," seen alternate Mondays at 9:30 p.m. NYT, on NBC-TV, is the first dramatic program to originate from 8-H. The change-over enables Montgomery to use such Hollywood production techniques as back projection, extremely long, mobile cranes for cameras, etc. The facilities here are as fine as any sound stage in Hollywood. Among film greats who have made their TV dramatic debut on this top ranking show are: Robert Montgomery, himself; Zachary Scott, Van Heflin, Barbara Bel Geddes, Angela Lansbury, June Havoc, Madeleine Carroll, Jane Wyatt, Lee Bowman, Ella Raines, Elliott Nugent, Thomas Gomez, Peter Cookson.

There's nothing better than hot muffins on a frosty morning. And when they are surprise-filled with sweet tangy fresh cranberries, they go to the head of the list of family favorites. So easy to make, too, with fresh cranberries in season and that box of biscuit mix handy on the pantry shelf.

CRANBERRY FILLED MUFFINS

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
2 cups fresh cranberries
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 recipe favorite muffins

Combine sugar, water, cranberries and grated rind. Cook rapidly until berries pop—about 10 minutes. Prepare muffin batter using favorite recipe, or use a ready-mix and prepare according to directions for muffins. Fill greased muffin tins about ½ full and add a generous spoonful of cooled cranberries. Press berries lightly into batter. Drop an additional spoonful of batter on top of the cranberries. Bake according to the recipe, or to directions on ready-mix box. Sprinkle muffins with granulated sugar while hot. Serve warm.

Some cooking tips from a rising young musical comedy and operatic star, Margaret Hunter. Miss Hunter, a native of Baltimore, Md., last year toured the country with Brigadoon, and is soon to be in Montreal for an opera engagement. In spite of her travel schedule, Maggie loves to return to her New York . . . good cook apartment where she delights her friends with her culinary art. Here are three of her favorite quick recipes:

Sauce for Pork Chops . . . add ½ can of milk to a can of cream-of-mushroom soup. Season with salt, pepper and ¼ teaspoon of nutmeg. Heat. Pour over cooked chops. It's the nutmeg that turns the trick.

Sweet-sour Pork Chops . . . marinate chops in wine-vinegar for several hours. Just before broiling or frying, pour juice from canned peaches or pineapple over them.

Tricks with Left-over Meat . . . slice cooked meat, dip in catsup, roll in cracker crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Especially good with left-over veal.

Law Firm Calls For More County Judges

Dear Sir:

We had occasion a few days ago to check with the county clerk's office to determine when a lawsuit we are defending will go to trial. In writing to our clients, I was forced to state . . . "A check of the county clerk's office here indicates that the case will not come to trial until about the latter part of August, 1951, or about fourteen months from the date of the memorandum to set the cause for trial."

It occurs to me that your paper might be interested in commenting editorially upon the situation.

There is an old, old saying that justice delayed is justice denied. In this cynical age, I suppose that many people would consider that to be trite, and of no significance and, yet, to those of us who have occasion to deal with our courts and with the system as it exists today, a shocking condition is immediately apparent.

There are many lawyers who do little if any trial work and they, for the most part, are not concerned but to those of us who, at least, claim to be trial lawyers, the condition warrants a change and an immediate change, if such is possible.

It is my belief that after a case is at issue, it should then be tried within a very few weeks. As a matter of fact, if cases did come on for trial within say, two to three months, many cases would be settled that now "hang on" and are not settled until the very last minute. The cases that do go to trial would be tried more efficiently and with a greater probability that the true facts would be developed. I use the phrase "true facts" rather than "truth" because the word "truth," of course, embodies within its broad meaning and use the honest belief of those who testify.

However, perhaps, I should curb my habit of being somewhat verbose, and say no more because other reasons are full known to you. In any event, it is my hope that something can be done to remedy the unwholesome situation existing in our county.

In writing as I have, I do not intend any criticism of our present judges. The fact is that we require more judges. If you should see fit to assist in an effort to bring about an alleviation of the congestion in this county, there are many who will appreciate your position.

With kindest personal regards,
I remain, very truly,

Woodrow Wilson PTA Sets Plans For Near Future

Plans for big events in the near future were the main topics at an executive board meeting of the Woodrow Wilson P.T.A. last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Hickey.

Chief topic of discussion was the PTA bazaar slated for Friday December 8, from 3 to 9 p.m. Some of the many booths to be assembled will include a sewing booth with Mrs. Atteberry presiding, a food booth conducted by Mrs. Joseph Ausano, a coffee booth directed by Mrs. William Berardy, and a plant booth under the joint supervision of mesdames Turney and Snell.

Woodrow Wilson members set aside the week commencing January 15, 1951, for their annual Salvage drive.

Other executive board business included the replacement of Mrs. Philip Gray as recording secretary with Mrs. James Bradshaw. Mrs. Gray tendered her resignation by mail and a motion selecting Mrs. Bradshaw was unanimously approved.

A switch in the date of regular "Hot Dog" sales was made for the month of November. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the board voted to move the sales up a week so they will be offered next Wednesday, November 15.

There will be a district meeting at Jefferson Union High School Thursday, November 16, starting at 10 a.m. Those wishing to attend are advised to bring lunches as the session will last until 2:30 p.m.

The next regular meeting of the Woodrow Wilson PTA will be held on Tuesday, November 21 at 2 p.m. in the kindergarten room of the school.

County Recorder's Office Has Busy Month

Close to 1,000 more papers were handled by the County Recorder's office last month than for October 1949, Ruth Kirste, county recorder, announced today.

There were 6,734 papers, bringing fees of $17,984 processed by the office last month as compared with 5,488 at a value of $15,211 for October, 1949.

Even the marriages increased from 101 for a year ago to 151 for October 1950.

New Bay Crossing Plan Explained

The San Francisco Bay Area Council, composed of representatives of the nine Bay Area counties, has proposed a Bay crossing plan to end "the battle of the bridges" that is delaying any planning for a second span to connect San Francisco peninsula with the East and North Bay shores.

Officials who attended the conference here at which the proposal was submitted have asked for thirty days in which to study the plan and secure opinions from their local governments.

The proposal as submitted by the Bay Area Council calls for a high level crossing from the vicinity of Broadway to Yerba Buena Island, and thence to the vicinity of the Oakland Mole, and a low level crossing from Candlestick Point to Bay Farm Island and the East Shore Freeway in Oakland. Estimated cost of the crossings is $150,000,000 and $75,000,000 respectively, and it was expected both would be paid for by refinancing the present San Francisco Bay Bridge.

The proposal submitted to the conference by the Bay Area Council's president, W. E. Waste, and general manager Frank F. Marsh, also contemplates removal of the top of Yerba Buena Island to make it a traffic distribution point for the present Bay Bridge and a north crossing; the proposed Richmond-San Rafael crossing already under study by the State; improvement of the Carquinez Bridge; modernization of the San Mateo bridge into a four-lane freeway; and eventual construction of a span from San Francisco to Angel Island and thence to Marin County, to relieve congestion on the Golden Gate Bridge, with an additional feeder artery from Angel Island to Treasure Island "if and when it is needed."

The proposal was expected to stimulate discussion and some dissension, since Oakland has expressed its determination to support a "twin" bay bridge, and San Francisco is opposed to such a plan because of the already heavy congestion at the Western terminus of that span.

Gilbert Sheehan, 248 Hillcrest drive, Market street railway motorman, narrowly escaped death Sunday when the street car he was driving crashed with a fifteen-ton truck at the intersection of Sixteenth and Utah. So great was the force of the collision that the front of the street car was telescoped back almost to the first passenger seats. With eight pasengers of the street car, Sheehan was given emergency treatment for shock, cuts and bruises. Occupants of the truck were uninjured.

Jefferson's mermaids put on a fairly good showing in their meet with Sequoia last Friday. The girls captured two second and two third places. Virginia Adams took a third in the 25 yard back stroke. Marian Nelson took second place in the 25 yard breast stroke. Beatrice Putnam came in second in the 50 yard free style event.

"Roosevelt versus Wilkie" was the subject of a lively debate yesterday at Jefferson Union High School. Sigfried Hansen, public speaking instructor directed the program. Taking the Roosevelt side was the team of Ralph Matteucci, Bob Lee, and Ann Mjehovich. Opposition came from the team of Bill Clement, Adele Mejou and Rosemary Loney. Lawrence Caserza served as chairman of the debate.

Men Needed For Guard Units

Applications for commissions and enlistments are now being taken for four rifle companies of the 14th Battalion of the California Defense and Security Corps in San Mateo county.

Headquarters have been established at the National Guard Armory, 420 Peninsula avenue, San Mateo. The corps is to assume the normal duties of the National Guard in the event of a major emergency which would require the use of the militia to guard essential installations or to assist the civil authorities in the preservation of law and order.

The battalion has been activated under command of Lt. Col. Joseph L. Connolly, USA retired.

Age limits are 17 to 70. Veterans may enlist in the same grades they held at discharge frorm military service. Minor physical disabilities which ordinarily would disqualify applicants in the regular branches of service will be waived in the new outfit.

CISC Requests Safety Measures

In an effort to reduce highway accidents, the California Industrial Safety Conference is requesting that Contract and Proprietary Carriers be brought under the same safety rules of the Public Utilities Commission that now cover Common Carriers.

At a meeting of the Conference Coordinating Committee held in San Francisco yesterday, a resolution was passed recommending that the Public Utilities Commission or the Department of Motor Vehicles be granted jurisdiction over unscheduled haulers. If this is done, it will be possible to enforce such regulations as those covering working hours, proper loading, truck maintenance and trip logs.

The meeting of the California Industrial Safety Conference was attended by representatives of labor and management from all parts of the State. It was decided that the Conference become a permanent organization, with activities to be divided between Agriculture; Construction; Manufacturing; Trades and Services; Transportation, Communications and Utilities; and Research.

A Planning Committee is to be appointed by Chairman Paul Scharrenberg. This committee will meet regularly, to plan ways and means by which the recommendations to the Conference can be implemented. This committee will meet annually or at the call of the chairman.

The main objective of the Conference is to reduce industrial accidents in California by 25 per cent—a figure set by Governor Earl Warren at the April meeting of the group in Los Angeles.

Vets Needed For Skilled Jobs

In the belief that some veterans in this community may now be employed in work below their highest skills, and may wish to take work in critical shortage occupations for which they are qualified, the North County Veterans Advisory Committee has asked the California Department of Employment to make its facilities available to veterans on Saturday morning, November 18 from 9 o'clock til noon, according to C. J. Wiley, Chairman of the Committee

Job openings presently exist in the following skills and some openings for unskilled male workers are also available. Openings also exist in some categories for male and female clerical workers: Tool Designer, Mech. Draftsmen, Machinists, Aircraft Welders, Molders, Roller Turners.

For the convenience of those veterans living in the southern part of San Mateo County, the San Mateo office of the Department of Employment, located at 30 South B street, will also be open between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon on Saturday, November 18, so that veterans desiring to do so may contact that office.

OBITUARY

C. T. Broughton

Charles T. Broughton, well known civil engineer in North San Mateo county, died of a heart attack in a San Mateo courtroom Monday afternoon.

The Burlingame resident at one time advised Daly City and was works engineer for South San Francisco. Brougton, who was 67, collapsed in the justice court of Judge Daniel Creedon a few moments after the judge had awarded him $30 in settlement of a suit against a client.

Broughton had just completed work on the $600,000 Coastside Water District project in Half Moon Bay area.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Burlingame with The Rev. Francis P. Foote officiating. Entombment was at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park.

PIT RIVER NAMED

Pit River, located in the northeastern corner of California, is reported by the National Automobile Club to have taken its name from the custom of the Indians of digging pits to catch men and beasts.

County Governmt. Costs Up 3.5 Pct. . . In One Year

Increased city and county government in San Mateo county cost the average resident $4.48 more in 1949 than in 1948, according to figures released by the Bay Area Council today.

The 3.5 per cent increases was the smallest in the Bay Area. The cost per person went from $127.23 in 1948 to $131.71 in 1949. Per capita increase for the Bay Area was 31.4 per cent. . . . $119.18 to $156.62.

During 1948 San Mateo county's government was the fourth most expensive per capita in the region; last year it ranked seventh among the nine counties.

The council pointed out that the cost of government, like the cost of living, has been subject to sharp increases. In addition to the normal rise in things government must buy, the council points to other factors of increase here.

"Bay Area communities have been faced with many extraordinary expenditures in recent years as a direct result of the one million new residents that have settled in the nine counties during the last decade. . . . growing communities demand additional schools, recreation centers, sewer systems, streets and administration buildings which involve expenditures that can no longer be postponed."

Engine Room Men Are Unsung Heroes

by JIM GILLAN
(aboard USS Pollux)

Robert Fulton, who is credited with developing the power driven ship, was an exponent of the "horse and buggy days" compared to the traveling cities upon the world's oceans today.

For instance, this ship is set to equip 40,000 men for 90 days. The covered wagon, the medicine man with his one horse shay and bottles of sure cures, the itinerant peddler who stocked a wagon with supplies and traveled our frontiers, could hardly visualize this operation which carries supplies across the vast Pacific for more than 5,000 miles. And there the market is a monopoly and a dreaming merchant's paradise. No customer out there can cross over to another corner if he doesn't like the service or the article.

The power plant of these floating "department stores" of course, is the vital core of the whole seaborne supply chain. It was comparatively cool in the engine rooms today. That's what the man said. It was only 110°—you know what. Ships, he said, and I mean Mister Johnsen, travel waters of the Pacific with men in the "hole" working in 130 and 150 degree heat and no shade this side of Pago Pago.

Working conditions such as these produce the typical "Black Gang" sailor—a man who is never surprised, never distressed and who always is prepared for the unexpected. An illustration of a typical "Black Gang" reaction to disaster is contained in one of the classic stories of the Pacific end of World War II, which hinged on the youngster trapped in the engine rooms of a stricken warship off Japan. The "bridge" was calling. The engine rooms were flooding and were sealed off from the other compartments in an effort to save the ship. There was no hope for those men in the engine rooms. The phone rang and the young sailor answered, "Kelly's Poolroom."

Chief Engineer of this fleet issue "department store on water" is Lt. A. K. Johnsen, Route 2, Bothell, Washington. The 14,000 ton vessel, commanded by Captain H. B. Dodge, World War II submarine Legion of Merit and Bronze Star skipper of Coronado, California, has an engineering crew, "Black Gang," of 54 men. Machinist G. N. Wheeldon, 1542 Pacific Beach Drive, San Diego, California, is assistant Chief Engineer.

Recently out of "mothballs" the USS Pollux is strictly a service deal to the Pacific operating fleet in Far Eastern waters. In her holds are some 7,500 separate items for issue—medical supplies, clothing, nuts and bolts, frozen foods, hair tonic, shaving lather and after shaving lotion, gum, candy, ice cream, cigarettes and one steel building 100 x 40 feet. She's a sort of independent operator, too. On the deck, a jeep and a pickup are the first items off and the last loaded. From the bridge, the jeep looks like those you see in the five and ten shore-based stores.

Two oil fired boilers produce an average of 460 pounds of super heated steam. They are fired automatically, but Navy regulations demand the boiler technicians (water tenders in the old Navy) constantly watch and regulate water in each boiler. Firemen, boiler, technicians, electricians, machinist mates, etc., stand four hour "watches" with eight hours off—part of which is spent doing the many details required of all sailing men.

The engineer's gang produced the electricity which runs the radios, radars, lights the lights and produces juice for the other gadgets, gimmicks, et cetera, which make up this home so far from home.

And then there's the water-making equipment which draws from the Pacific, purifies, dumps the salt brine, and produces from 11,000 to 12,000 gallons each day—for baths, boilers and baking.

Two engines, producing 6,000 horsepower—one with high pressure turbine and the other with low pressure—turn the main shaft extending to the storm and beyond to the propellor or screw.

The whole shebang is 20th Century. Lubricating oil is purified and used and used and used. Steam unused is condensed into water again, and back again into steam. There are emergency generators for those that "foul up"; steam and electric pumps forcing water into steam pressured boilers. There are shops—shipfitter, boat, machine and electrical — equipped with parts, lathes, power drills, grinders and polishers, tools, spares and other things to cut and smash your fingers if you are not a qualified technician.

Construction and repair, damage control and electricians on 24 hour call also are a part of this department. The men, themselves in the engineering gang, are firemen, electricians, machinist mates, boiler technicians, shipfitters, metalsmiths and damage control experts.

To carry this "Mr. Nuts and Bolts" to the Fleet, it take about 12,000 gallons of fuel a day; 5,000 gallons of water for the ship and another 3,500 for the boilers. She will carry about 450,000 gallons of fuel oil and some 40,000 gallons of water.

ABOUT JUDITH AND HOLOFERNES

By Ridgely Cummings

I like legends as well as the next person so when I went to the De Young Memorial museum in Golden Gate park and saw four different versions of an ancient Jewish myth it seemed worth while to resort to the books and dig out the background.

The paintings that intrigued me were Judith and Holofernes. They were part of the Vienna exhibit lent by the Austrian government.

Vaguely I remembered that Judith was a character in the old testament. I thumbed through the Bible and couldn't find her and then a Jewish friend told me she is one of the great heroines of his co-religionists and that her story appeared in the banned books of the Bible, the apocrypha.

Four Versions

The four versions of the legend that were on exhibit in the Austrian collection all showed Judith in her moment of triumph, holding aloft the bloody head of Holofernes. They were challenging because of the varying conceptions of the artists.

The story they depicted is briefly this. Holofernes, according to the legend, was the chief general to Nebuchadnezzar, King of Assyria. The King was either persecuting the Jews or warring on them, depending upon one's viewpoint. He sent Holofernes to besiege the Israelites.

After 40 days and nights of seige (the number 40 seems to have magical qualities in the Bible) the inhabitants were starving and ready to throw in the sponge. The famished Jews urged their governor to surrender and he consented to do so within five days if no relief came meanwhile.

It was at this point that Judith appeared on the scene. She was a beautiful widow of the tribe of Simeon and she broached a plan for deliverance of her people.

Judith Goes Out

Wearing rich attire and accompanied only by her maid, she went out of the embattled city and into the enemy camp.

Judith demanded to be conducted to the tent of Holofernes. Because of her great beauty she was allowed to enter.

Using all her feminine wiles, Judith won the confidence of Holofernes and on the third night, while he was sleeping, she cut off his head.

Two of the paintings showed only Judith, her maid and the head; another added some Jewish elders looking on approvingly; and the fourth painted the murderess and her grisly trophy poised before a multitude of rejoicing soldiers and townsfolk.

This last one was by Francesco Solimena, an Italian who lived between 1657 and 1747. Solimena's was the classical conception rather than the individual approach. His Judith was a heroic figure with regular features and no particular personality. He used bright coloring and many figures on his canvas but much less feeling and imagination than the other three artists.

Veronese Version

Veronese's Judith was in my opinion the best of the lot. It was painted in the 1570's, in Venice, and showed the girl, her maid and the head in a night scene, with flickering lights and shadows. My big objection was that his Judith didn't look like the sort of girl who could sleep all night with a man and kill him in the morning.

Simon Vouet, a Frenchman who lived between 1590 and 1649, must have disliked Judith for he painted her as vain, cold, haughty and treacherous. His Holofernes is intelligent, thoughtful and one wonders how he came to be taken in.

Carlo Saraceni, an Italian who thrived about the same period (1585-1620), approached the legend sympathetically. His Judith looks younger than any of the others and his Holofernes wears an expression of surprised rage, as who wouldn't if he woke up to find his sweetheart sawing off his head?

The folk myth of the beautiful girl who yields her body that her country's enemies may be confounded is one that appears all through history.

But usually the woman's role is restricted to gathering information or unlocking the city gates rather than outright slaughter of her lover.

Here in the lengend of Judith and Holofernes we have the glorification of the basest kind of treachery, that of the bedroom. I find myself unable to admire her.

Let me hasten to add there is nothing anti-Semitic in this reaction. If Judith were the blondest of Anglo-Saxons and her victim were Vishinsky or Malik or William Z. Foster I still wouldn't like her.

CLEAN LENSES HELPFUL

That sudden reduction in the apparent volume of light ahead of the car may be nothing more serious than a pair of dirty lenses, advises the National Automobile Club. A collection of grime on the glass, picked up from a moist pavement through the agency of a pair of spinning wheels of the car ahead, is peculiarly designed to cut down the available light. Wipe off the lenses and notice the change.

Jeffs—Will They?

Usually, given such weekly space as this column is alloted, a variety of subjects could be mulled over, pro and con.

But present conditions are such that there's only one topic worthy of heading the list.

Personally, we can't think of anything better than the Jefferson Indians to talk about.

Big Chief Glen South's Tribe still refuses to lose a football game and people want to know when they ultimately will submit.

A consensus of questions leaves one demanding query: "Will the Indians win the Peninsula Athletic League championship? "Hmmnn. That's a tough one!

It's pretty easy to give an affirmative answer to that one, but then again, it's just as simple to say nay.

Jefferson stands on the threshold of the throne. Or maybe just one step removed from the king's room. It's that indecisive.

The Indians made it five in a row without defeat last Friday with a nerve-splitting 14-6 triumph over an apparently improved Willow Glen squad. That represents the removal of one of their obstacles in claiming the top spot. Four straight league games away from home. And the locals survived the ordeal.

Now is the hour so far as the Jefferson are concerned. The "make or break" time has arrived.

The Tribe is camped on their own reservation from now on. An ideal situation if they can rise to the task.

San Mateo's Bearcats, an above average contingent as records indicate, should publicly illustrate which way the tide is flowing.

San Mateo's overall record to date is 4-2. The Bearcats have lost only to a revived Sequoia team in P.A.L. contests. The Mateans rallied for four second-half touchdowns last week to overtake San Jose, 26-20.

And the Jeffs had their hands full when they beat San Jose.

"If" and "how" Jefferson gets over San Mateo will be the guide for future prediction. Palo Alto is feared enough, but San Mateo may be the burglar behind the curtain.

Pal Picture . . .

Besides the Jeff-San Mateo argument, three other tilts figure to be rather close.

Palo Alto, which rolled up 523 yards in socking Burlingame last week, may find things interesting against Ken Blue's San Jose Bulldogs. Both San Mateo and Jeff found the defending champs to be their stiffest tests.

The Vikings have average 39.5 joints in four P.A.L. games and have captured six games without a setback. All wins were safe and convincing.

At San Jose, Lincoln meets Willow Glen and this could be anybody's ball game. In a battle of doormats, Burlingame and South City will fight for the basement at South City. The Warriors downed Serra's Padres, 25-12, last week in a non-league setto.

Willow Glen—An Athletic Haven

One couldn't help but marvel at Willow Glen's splendid athletic plant in San Jose. The new school is ultra-modern in all aspects and the sports layout is notably a fine project.

Willow Glen's outlook compares favorably with Jefferson's. Only it is more expansive and modernistic. There are wide and vast outdoor areas allocated to basketball courts, tennis, track, football and swimming—two open air pools.

The running track and gridiron are superior to anything this writer has seen in the San Francisco area.

Nice progressive people, these San Joseans!

Former Jeffs Cavort

San Mateo Junior college's football roster is graced with the following names among 44 altogether: George Hill, tackle; George Ritter, halfback; and Ray Settrini, fullback.

Recognize these boys? That's right. They formerly played their high school football at Jefferson.

New Rules This Year

What's the difference between P.A.L. football and the college brand? More than you might think.

This year Peninsula Athletic League games are played under National High School Federation rules. Prior to this International Collegiate rules were maintained.

Major changes of importance are as follows:

1. Any player may recover and advance a backward pass or fumble.
2. All kicks remain alive when they go into the end zone.
3. Any lineman may change positions with any back prior to any down.
4. Any player in legal position and not on line is eligible to receive a forward pass.
5. There is no limit on number of forward passes thrown from behind the line of scrimmage.
6. Passer or kicker must be avoided until after ball is thrown.
7. Punt touched dead inside the 10 yard line is dead.
10. Quarters are limited to nine minutes with four times outs per half.

Don Mossi Wins In Relief Role For Sarto A. C.

Starter Johnny Rubsic didn't finish against Walter Gordon's nine last Sunday but the Sarto Athletic Club defeated the Realty club anyway, 8-2, in a Big Rec Double A game at Marchbanks Park.

Don Mossi, the Bakersfield professional, took over for the City College righthander in the fifth inning with the score tied, 2-2. Mossi held the opposition scoreless, while his mates were piling up six more runs.

The Gordon outfit got off to an early 2-0 lead in the early innings, but pitcher Don Maguire, property of the San Jose Red Sox, weakened as the game progressed.

Maguire yielded but five hits, but he walked seven batters and that was sufficient combination for defeat.

Manager Vic Baher's team, who now sport a 4-2 league record, reached Maguire for only six hits.

This Sunday, Sarto AC collides with loop-leading Les Vogel's (4-0) in a Double A feature in Marchbanks Park at 2 p.m.

Other Golden Gate Park League results Sunday were: Molkenbuhr Bros. 9, Mike Chioino 5; Foster's 3, Lucky Lager 2; Les Vogel 4, Marty's The Geary 1; Ocean Avenue Merchants 6, La Scala Restaurant 3.

In action of the Big Rec Saturday League, Eddie Cereghino, the Bob Feller of Daly City, struck out 18 batters and gave up three hits as Chioino's bested Rainbows, 9-2.

City College Rams Lose To East L.A. In Last 13 Seconds

City College's Rams fumbled once too often against the East Los Angeles J. C. Huskies last Friday night in Kezar Stadium, losing a 20-14 intersectional duel that might have gone the other way.

Grover Klemmer's eleven, playing their best football this season, made a costly bobble with a minute to go and leading 14-13.

The Rams had a first and 10 to go on their own 36 and it looked as through they would run the clock out with runs. Fullback Oscar Brown was knocked out on first down and fumbled.

The visitors recovered and 13 seconds before the final gun the Huskies scored the winning markers on a 20 yard pass, Ben Vartainian to Manny Perez.

Ralph DeLaTorre, former All-City quarterback from Balboa High, put the Rams on the scoreboard with two touchdown passes.

In the first quarter, DeLaTorre rifled a 23 yard aerial to end Dick Galliani who scooted 12 more yards for the game's opening score.

The Huskies, regarded a possible Litle Rose Bowl choice, retaliated with single tallies in the first two periods.

DeLaTorre gave the Rams their second lead midway in the third quarter on a paydirt pitch to halfback Al Endriss.

The win was the Huskies' sixth in seven starts. The Rams have lost four out of five contests.

The improving Rams meet Hartnell of Salinas tomorrow afternoon in San Francisco State's Cox Stadium at 1:30.

Gelsi's Cavern Blasts G. F., 11-3

Gelsi's Cavern bounced back into the win column last Sunday with an 11-4 National League Double A victory over the Galli Furniture nine.

The win evened Gelsi's league record at 2-2 for .500.

The game was close for awhile, but the Liquor lads broke a 2-2 fifth inning deadlock to storm ahead and stay there.

Red Dunn hurled eight hit ball for Gelsi's, while his mates blasted ten off the slants of two Galli flingers.

Fred Fazio with three for four and Leo Massone with two for four paced the winning attack.

This Sunday at Funston Field, Gelsi's take on the Haight and Filmore Merchants at 2 o'clock.

DUCK SHOOTING GOOD

Duck shooting has been good during the past few days in the flooded areas on duck clubs in Fresno County, reports the National Automobile Club.

Muir Nips SMJC In Rose Bowl Tilt

San Mateo Junior College's Bulldogs came home from the Rose Bowl last week on the short end of a 25-21 intersectional tussle with John Muir College of Pasadena.

The win was Muir's first in eight games.

The host Mustangs scored in the first two periods to take a 13-7 halftime lead. Fullback Bill Botieff plunged three yards for the first Matean score.

Johnny Bettencourt and Botieff crossed the goal line in the third quarter to give San Mateo a 21-13 margin. A long pass play brought the count to 21-19. With seven minutes left in the game, Johnny Leal couldn't get a punt away and the Mustangs were on the Bulldog 30. On first down Bill Moreno skipped thirty yards and Muir was in front to stay.

Don Ouelette kicked three conversions for San Mateo.

Tomorrow afternoon in Modesto, Coach Herb Hudson's Bulldogs resume Northern California Junior College Conference play against the Modesto J. C. Cubs. Modesto has a 2-2 league record, while the Mateans have yet to win in Southern Division contests.

Trapping Season Starts Next Week In California

California's commercial trapping season opens Thursday, November 16, for an estimated 1200 licensed trappers, reminds the Division of Fish and Game.

When the fur-bearing mammal season ends February 27, trappers are required to submit a report of their total catch, giving names and addresses of persons to whom pelts were sold or shipped.

The $1 citizen trapping license is required for persons over the age of 18 for the taking of pine marten, milk, river otter, grey fox, cross fox, silver fox, red fox, kit fox, muskrat. There is no open season on fisher, wolverine, or sea otter.

MAN SALMON TAKEN

Many large salmon have been taken during the past few days from the waters of the Eel River in Humboldt County area, reports the National Automobile Club.

FISH AND GAME DEPARTMENT SETS ASIDE WARNING POSTERS IN HUNTING AREAS

Whether or not hunters legally can shoot in certain California areas will be certified by either of the two signs below, according to the State Fish and Game Commission.

The sign on the left guarantees a right to shoot during the approaching pheasant season on an estimated 100,000 acres of California farm land between November 18 and 27.

Unharvested crops, buildings, and stock will be protected by signs like those at the right, when an estimated 200,000 game hunters are afield.

Twelve separate areas will be operated and patrolled by the Division of Fish and Game in the second year of its cooperative hunting program.

Tribe Comes From Behind In Thriller, 14-6, To Preserve Undefeated Standing

Klien, Tschirgi Tally Touchdowns

By ROY HURLBERT

Getting off to their customary slow start, Jefferson's Indians overcame a 6-0 half time deficit with an uphill splurge to whip a fired-up Willow Glen Ram aggregation last Friday on the losers gridiron, 14-6.

Victory in the tense game was number five for Glenn South's title-conscious eleven, the last four in Peninsula Athletic League competition.

Rams Dominate Early

During the first two periods, the red and gold suited Rams were in the driver's seat. The Tribe was pretty well bottled up by rule infractions and an inspired Ram defense.

Willow Glen asumed a clear cut half time advantage by virtue of their much-reputed air attack. Although Coach Bob Berry's team connected on only eight of 21 pass attempts, their tossing of the pigskin was effective at the right times.

The Rams lone touchdown came on the tail end of a passing drive two minutes into the second quarter. Quarterback Bob Doudell got the job done in a hurry. All it took was four plays, two through the air.

Willow Glen Scores

Jefferson, penalized 15 yards for holding, kicked from deep in Indian territory, the nine yard line, four downs after the second quarter began. Ray Tschirgi's punt sailed out to Indian 28 and the Rams took over.

Doudell threw three straight passes, completing one each to end Ed Griffith for 10 yards and halfback Warren Stannard for another 15, and then Stannard boomed off left tackle for three yards and the score.

Jeff Drives Short

Dave Cafferata swarmed in to partially block the unsuccessful point-after-touchdown try.

Jefferson put together two drives before the half expired but both fell shy of producing anything.

The first was a nine-play march to the Willow Glen eight-yard stripe right after the Ram tally. A 26 yard end-sprint by Bob Gallagher and other nice runs by Tschirgi and Max Kliem were to no avail as Kliem fumbled the hide eight yards from paydirt.

The Daly City club moved to the Ram 38 minutes later after the ball changed hands, but their promising four-play spurt died inches short of a first down.

Mentor South must have given his boys a good talking to at the intermission, for in the second half they dictated the terms.

In eight plays after Ray Espinoza brought back the kickoff to the Jefferson 25, the Indians tied the count.

Tschirigi for 12, Kliem for 25 and Gallagher for 16, were the chief chunks in the 75 yard distance. Kliem circled left end for the final nine making it 6-6. Byran McMahon kicked his first of two extra points with Gallagher holding.

Jefferson's forwards, who had been outcharged in the first two quarters, did an about face in the third and fourth periods. Remaining Ram thrusts were thrown back and the Indians were moving ahead with each play.

The Tribe's clinching score was literally ground out three minutes into the final quarter on a slow but deliberate 14 play series.

Izi Galente's surprising dashes sparked the Indian drive. The diminutive 145 pound scatback really came into his own as a running threat with consecutive jaunts off tackle for 33, 48, and 12 yards. Galente's first dash was erased by an offside penalty, but signal-caller Pat McCool, a heady field leader, sent Izi over the same route and got results.

Tribe Goes 92 yards

Gallagher and Tschirgi also packed in the 92 yard advance with short-shots, with the latter plunging off tackle from the one yard line for the Tribe's second score. McMahon's conversion was perfect and the Indians felt slightly relieved with only three minutes left, 14-6.

Willow Glen had four more plays and tried three desperation passes, but they were unproductive.

Jefferson got the ball on downs on the Ram 27 and were headed for another tally as the gun sounded. The tribe was on the Ram 10 at the time.

South, nervy as a cat from the near upset, was a little disappointed with his co-league leaders.

Mentor Comments

"Our line charge was very poor in the first half. Perhaps the poorest all season. We picked up in the second half and looked much better. They had us worried for a while with their passing game. I told my team at half time that a good club club couldn't be held down, and they went out and proved it."

South was pleased with the general team effort once they got going. Special praise went to halfback Galente and guard Bob Davis, both juniors.

Penalties Hurt

Pete Kopcrak, ailing tackle, was the only Indian not to see action. Kopcrak will suit-up today against San Mateo.

Statistically, the Tribe had a net ground gain of 246 yards to Willow Glen's 41. Via the air, the Rams passed for 90 yards, Jeff for but one on a single completion on four passes.

Jefferson outdowned the Rams 17-7, but were assessed 65 important yards on nine penalties to Willow Glen's 15 yards on three infractions.

Score by Quarters:

Willow Glen	0	6	0	0	— 6
Jefferson	0	0	7	7	—14

S. F. State Takes Far West Title

San Francisco State's Gaters erased a 20-6 halftime margin to capture the Far West Conference football championship with a 33-26 victory over the Cal Aggies last Saturday night in Aggieland.

Dewey Guerra cinched the contest with a tie-breaking touchdown plunge from the two yard line with only a minute and 40 seconds to go.

Gater Quarterback Tom Ripa did yeoman work with two touchdown passes and a pair of six-pointers on quarterback sneaks.

The win also presented Joe Verducci's eleven a bid to the Pear Bowl, at Medford Oregon on Thanksgiving day.

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Gaters face Cal Poly of San Dimas in a non-league feature.

Bears Drill For Fall Cage Season

As Coach Nibs Price prepares California for the 1950-51 basketball season which opens in early December, 32 players remained today on the list of Bear varsity candidates after the initial cut.

Six Varsity lettermen stayed on on the list, as did all ten of the freshmen from last year's undefeated yearling team.

Price's current first five, of a very tentative nature, includes three lettermen. Billy Hagler, who hit for 288 points last year, and All-Southern Division center in '49, is operating at one forward position. Two other vets who came along fast at the end of last season are starting out at the guard slots, Ray Squeri, and Bob See.

Newcomers to the No. 1 Varsity quint include Larry Horan, ambidexterous shot artist of '50 frosh five at forward, and Al Rose, top-notch center of the '49 freshmen, who was injured most of last year, at the pivot post.

Price's second team at the moment includes four sophomores. They are: The twins, John and Rupe Ricksen combine at forward, big Clay Gray is the center, Ernie Spies is one guard, the other Bill Thompson, a 2-year letterman who is a senior.

Bears, Bruins Will Tangle In "Rose Bowl" Feud Tomorrow

The crowd of three presently fighting for the PCC's Rose Bowl bid will probably be reduced to a more workable two after the California-UCLA battle in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium tomorrow. Kickoff time for the inter-university battle will be 2 p.m.

For the second time in two years, the meeting of the two biggest branches of the world's largest University looms as one of the factors determining the champion of the Pacific Coast Conference. Last year the Bears got by the Bruins, 35-21, and went on to take first spot in the PCC standings.

Coming into the 1950 game, UCLA is deadlocked at second place with Washington, each having lost a PCC game, while California is out in front with four victories, no defeats in conference play. The series marks: Out of 20 games, 13 California wins, six UCLA wins, one tie.

The overall Bruin season record is five won, two lost. Both losses were to powerful teams, Washington by one point, Illinois, currently the favorite to represent the Big 10 in the Rose Bowl this season by a single touchdown. The Bears are undefeated so far this year, have won 36 consecutive regular season games and hold the PCC winning record at 21 straight.

Recreation Dept. Touch-football Closes Tomorrow

By Erle Johnson

Daly City Recreation Department's Touch Football leagues come to a climax tomorrow with O.L.P.H. in the A League and Crocker AM in the B League virtually assured of championships.

O.L.P.H. hasn't lost a game in A League competition while Crocker AM has yet to be conquered in five B League games.

Tomorrow's tussles at Marchbanks Park find the Crocker teams battling each other and the Jefferson and O.L.P.H. elevens clashing.

Last week, Crocker AM squads and both O.L.P.H. teams won.

The O.L.P.H. "A" team thumped Crocker PM, 27-6, while the O.L.P.H. "B" squad triumphed, 13-6. In an "A" tilt, the Jefferson boys defeated Crocker AM, 20-12. The "B" game also went to Jefferson, 6-0.

Should the O.L.P.H. "A" team lose tomorrow, which is unlikely, and should Crocker AM win, a playoff would have to be arranged.

Winners of the two leagues will be presented a perpetual trophy by the Daly City Recreation Department.

McGrath's Braves Lose To Palo Alto

Joe McGrath, Jefferson froshsoph coach, is a trifle young for the crying-towel business, but maybe he's entitled to use the procedure other coaches fall back on.

Two weeks ago, the Braves outplayed and almost beat the Palo Alto frosh-sophs, only to have the game called because of rain. The score stood at 0-0.

Last Thursday, the Jefferson eleven made a repeat trek to the southern city for another try—a makeup engagement.

Again the Jeffs held the statistical edge but Palo Alto managed to win, 7-0, on a late fourth quarter double-reverse play.

In the first quarter the Braves traveled six yards away from the end zone but fumbled their scoring opportunity.

For the remaining three quarters the Jefferson gridders neither gave nor asked a quarter. Palo Alto got the needed margin and that was their only advantage.

With an 0-2 record in Peninsula Athletic League play, the Braves have four more encounters on their schedule.

Yesterday, they hosted the Sequoia frosh-sophs. They wind up league action against San Jose at home and South City on successive weeks. McGrath's lads finish their chores against Serra in three weeks.

Knights Sponsor Annual Grid Trip To Southland

Want to see Notre Dame's Fighting Irish against Southern California's Trojans and the USF Dons against the Loyola Lions?

Well, then you should contact the Knights of Columbus Tour Committee, 760 Market street, San Francisco.

The Knights, as usual, are sponsoring a "Pigskin Special," a three day excursion to Los Angeles for the two grid classics.

The tour will start Friday evening, December 1, and people who make the jaunt will return home Monday morning. The Irish-Trojan spectacle is on Saturday, December 2, while the Don-Lion clash is the following day.

817 Predatory Animals Captured In September

State hunters captured some 817 predatory animals in California during the month of September, according to statistics compiled by the State Division of Fish and Game.

Hunters and trapers caught up with 300 coyotes, 193 foxes, and 96 bobcats in a 30 day period. Full time lion hunters eliminated 10 mountain lions in five counties.

Other enemies of wildlife trapped or shot in September were: 72 raccoons, 83 skunks, 21 porcupines, 18 badgers, and 14 marauding bears.

Jeff 20s Approach League Hoop Crown

Jefferson's stellar 120s basketball team moved closer to the P.A.L. hoop title with a 33-18 rout of Willow Glen last week.

Yesterday's scheduled skirmish with highly-rated Sequoia was to have decided the 20s championship.

Mike Orlich's 20s went in to the big one with four wins and no losses.

The 10s upset the Willow Glen 10s, 20-19, to even up their league record at 2-2. Dick Trantham, Tom Costello, and Ray Record led the scoring with six points each.

Don Delbon paced the 20s by finding the range for 11 points against Willow Glen. Bud Silva was runner up with 6.

Delinquent Parents Urged To Attend Juke Box Dance

Parents who neglect the privilege of joining in the pleasures derived from participation with other parents in community events are due to miss a big night. Don't be delinquent in attending local affairs.

Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8:30 p.m., at the Colma Community Center, Broadmoor's Cub Pack 84 parents are sponsoring a "Juke Box" dance. This will be a highly entertaining opportunity for all parents in the Daly City and Colma areas to get acquainted with some real live wire folks that are doing a tremendous job for the little boys in the community.

The night will be full of fun and surprises. During the course of the evening, some exceptional prizes donated by the leading merchants in the area will be won.

The laughs and fun are to be almost given away for the admission is low.

The dance is to be limited to those good people that enjoy having fun and not spending a fortune having it.

COUNTY BUILDING SHOWS MARKED GAIN

Although there was less construction in unincorporated San Mateo county for last month as compared to the same month in 1949 the value of building ran about $2,500,000 over the same period last year.

The total value of construction for the first 10 months of this year is $16,871,530, A. W. Russell, county building inspector, said. For the same period last year the total was $14,269,126.

Last month 153 permits were issued for construction valued at $1,173,208, compared to $1,187,508 in October, 1949.

Chamber Lauds Bay Area Council

Commending the Bay Area Council on its efforts toward solution of the Bay crossing problem, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce this week announced support of the Council's program to study its "Proposed Master Plan of Toll Crossings for the San Francisco Bay Area."

In a letter to W. E. Waste, chairman of the Council's board of governors, Chamber President Paul A. Bissinger said his board of directors wished to congratulate the Council "on progress made at the meeting of the Council's board of governors Monday, October 30."

"Our Board," the letter said, "strongly supports the program to study your 'Proposed Master Plan' and hopes that the program may result in the formulation of an ultimate plan for Bay crossings that may have the unanimous support of state, municipal and all other Bay area interests."

Waste replied this week, thanking the Chamber for its support of the Council's efforts to seek the proper solution.

New Teachers Honored By Fellows

Thusday evening, November 2, the teachers of Jefferson School District gathered at the Home Economics Room at Thornton School to enjoy the reception given in honor of the trustees and the new teachers of the district.

President Don Pagani was assisted in his duties as host of the evening by Mrs. Hazel Colwell Principal of Thornton School, and Mrs. Ruth Mayo, Home Economics teacher. The faculty members of Thornton School, under the capable direction of Mrs. Colwell and Mrs. Mayo, had decorated the large classroom with autumn fruits and flowers. Candlelight and music provided the background for conversation.

This reception in the Autumn is one of the annual affairs of the association, having been held each year since the group was organized in 1945. This year's event was the sixth. All past presidents who are still on the faculty were present.

Among those present as honored guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Michael Callan, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cheatham, Mr. and Mrs. James Snell, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Falconer.

Relish Bakery Sells The Best Ice Cream Made

Ask the man or woman who has tasted the Relish Bakery ice cream.

That's the only real way (outside of buying the delicious ice cream yourself) to test the validity of the Relish Bakery's slogan: "We make the best ice cream available. When it is any better, we'll make it."

Sales prove the 22 varieties of ice cream offered by the Relish Bakery, 6356 Mission, are the most delicious this side of ambrosia. And the prices are just, if not more popular.

Last Sunday, for example, the Relish Bakery had so many calls for ice cream that it took a force of three men using both arms to supply the crying need for cool refreshment. The three gents are still recuperating from the land slide business.

But don't think ice cream is only good on hot days. Thousands have learned that the rich, creamy ice cream offered by the Relish Bakery makes the ideal party or after dinner dessert.

Economic Recovery Delay Explained As Unnecessary

Concern over war, depressions, Communism and Socialism have thrown Americans off center and have delayed the recovery of homely but important things such as sea and air trade, international credit and other factors necessary to supply the continuing wants of people.

This is the way Dr. Charles C. Colby, visiting professor of geography on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California and professor emeritus at the University of Chicago, feels about the recovery of a stable international economic situation.

According to Dr. Colby, one of the leading economic geographers in the United States, it is the duty of Americans to give more attention to the actual problems they face and not so much attention to matters which have sidetracked them.

Problems of employment, livelihood, trade and production, he says, are of prime importance.

America has always been a producing country, he points out. She stopped being a debtor nation at the beginning of the first World War and by the end of World War II was creditor to most of the world. In the opinion of Dr. Colby, people have been slow to change their mental outlook in harmony with this fact.

"We control sea and air trade—the two greatest forces in international relations. We must increase this trade in order to increase the production of other countries and satisfy their wants as well as our own," he says.

Dangerous Drivers Are Under 15 Over 65

The dangerous ages in traffic, according to the San Francisco Chapter, National Safety Council, are below 15 and over 65.

"It is among these two age groups that local and national pedestrian fatalities are greatest," stated Iver C. Larson, Chapter manager.

"According to National Safety Council figures," Larson said, "nearly 2,000 child pedestrians are killed each year. This figure is about 50 per cent higher than the number of 15-to-24 year old fatality victims."

An average of 3,200 pedestrians more than 65 are killed each year. Based on the number of pedestrian injuries and deaths in the over-64 age group, one out of eight elderly pedestrians injured by an auto die as the result of the accident.

Larson attributed the high rate of pedestrian casualties among the aged to retarded sight, hearing and reaction time.

"And when injured those in advanced years are less likely to recover," he pointed out.

Crossing between intersections and playing in the street top the list of causes of pedestrian casualties among children.

The November program of traffic safety education throughout the nation has pedestrian protection as its theme, Larson announced.

A MATTER OF VALVES

That bucking effect that occurs when picking up speed from, say, twelve or fifteen miles an hour in high gear very rarely has anything to do with the condition of the clutch or drive mechanism, according to the National Automobile Club. Nearly always it is a sign that the engine needs to be tuned up, from valves to ignition.

REPAIR PROMPTLY

Damaged automobile mufflers and exhaust pipes may make it possible for carbon monoxide gas fumes to enter the body of the car, with ill effects to the occupants, the California State Automobile Association warns. These parts, if damaged, should be replaced promptly.

Economists Warn Against Witch Hunt As Method Of Detecting Communists

Witch hunting and purges are not effective weapons against the red menace, according to Dr. Carl Landauer, professor of economics on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

In an article, "How to Fight Communism," appearing in the autumn issue of Pacific Spectator, published by the Stanford University Press, Dr. Landauer writes that "Nationally and internationally, Communism can be beaten only under the flag of freedom."

He explained that democratic education and free discussion will appear effective weapons against Communism only to a person who is deeply convinced of the value of a free society.

"Apparently, the witch hunting kind of anti-Communist rarely possesses that conviction," he added.

Dr. Landauer was a professor of business administration in Berlin until the Nazi accession. In "How to Fight Communism" he proposes three rules formulated from his own participation in the struggles against both Hitler and Communism. These are:

(1) We should constantly make it clear that we stand for freedom.

(2) We should make it easy to leave the Communist party. We should recognize and respect the inner conflict such an action imposes on former party members.

(3) We should educate Americans and others to an understanding of both democracy and Communism in order to strengthen the will to preserve our heritage of liberty.

FOR SAVING GASOLINE

You will save gasoline in your new car if you learn to use the accelerator gently, declares the National Automobile Club. Pressing hard and suddenly on the pedal spurts gasoline into the combustion chamber in far too great quantity to permit its effective use.

Navy Offers Opportunity

If you are a high school senior or graduate, between the ages of 17 and 21, you have an opportunity to compete for one of the Navy's 1600 four-year college scholarships. If successful, you may attend one of the 52 NROTC colleges for four years.

You will receive $600 a year for necessary personal expenses, plus free tuition, fees, books, equipment, and uniforms.

By filing your application you will be made eligible to take the Navy College Aptitude Test, which will be given on December 9 in your home town, or in a nearby city. Remember — to be eligible your application must be received before November 18, 1950. Don't delay! Act today!

Jones Calls For Examination Of Bridge Program

In a statement today concerning the 8-Point Bay Bridge Program as outlined at a meeting of the Bay Area Council, held recently at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, Proctor Jones, San Mateo County Chairman for the San Francisco Bay Project (The Reber Plan) stated that the program offered failed to take four basic factors into consideration.

None of these bridges provides for railway transportation," Jones said. "Furthermore, the idea of using Yerba Buena Island as a round table is preposterous when you think of its vulnerability to attack. One string of aerial bombs, well placed, could knock out the nerve center of this whole system. Two well trained saboteurs with $100 worth of material could make the crossings absolutely useless.

"It is claimed that the set up would cost $225,000,000. Engineers consulted on the question have stated that the $225,000,000 would not see the job half way through completion. Of course, bay crossings are important to the people living in San Mateo county, but equally important to them is fresh water. This plan does nothing to provide fresh water.

"This whole argument on bay crossings has been aggravated by the interests of big steel manufacturers as opposed to the cement, dirt fill, and dredging people. Most of the steel which would be used in this bridge production would come from out of the state, obviously to the benefit of out-of-state labor, whereas the cement, dirt fill, and dredging operation would utilize the local labor market and local materials.

"This meeting of the Bay Area Council indicates that its membership is not willing to await the findings of the Savage Commission, which is now investigating the engineering possibilities of the San Francisco Bay Project under direction of the Dolwig Committee of the State Assembly. This report will be available to the public in a matter of weeks.

"It is certainly in the taxpayer's interest to see what the Savage report will say concerning the San Francisco Bay Project before endorsing a program which will be costly to the taxpayer and fail to perform full service to our communities," Jones declared.

The Executive Committee of San Mateo County for the San Francisco Bay Project is comprised of Captain C. S. McDowell, U.S.N. ret., Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dibble Jr., Richard Armstrong, Richard H. O'Hara, James E. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. A. Norton Benner.

(And A Contest To End Contests)

Harry's been thumbing thru the dictionary in an effort to figure out why they call this creamy, tasty delight "Boston Cream Pie." In fact, he puzzles why so many cakes and pies are named after the city of Irishmen and cod fish. To-date he has no answer, but the first person who can give him an accurate reason for the use of "Boston" will be given free one of his Boston Cream Pies. The rest of you will have to pay, but the price is so low you won't mind.

New Octopus Welcomed To S. F.

A reception for an octopus, (or rather, three of them) complete with dignitaries, board members, and distinguished scientists was held on Friday afternoon at the California Academy of Sciences.

Octavia, Laguna, and Leslie, three giant octopuses whose tentacles measure upwards of ten feet, made their bow in a newly installed refrigerated tank, and go on public display Saturday morning.

The occasion of the celebration was a "thank you" to the Leslie Salt Company who donated a refrigeration system for the new octopus tanks as a service to the Academy and the public.

Dr. Robert C. Miller, Academy Director and Dr. Earl S. Herald, Curator of Aquatic Biology in Steinhart Aquarium were the council members on hand to greet officials of the Leslie Salt Company, trustees of the Academy, and the press. The eight-armed trio were introduced and their habits and characteristics explained.

Natives of the California coast, the three octopuses were acquired by the Academy from S. Gianina, an octopus fisherman who operates out of Monterey.

Naturally shy and with delicate nervous systems, octopuses are extremely difficult to keep alive in captivity, Dr. Miller explained. The new refrigerated system enables the Academy to duplicate deep sea conditions and a temperature of 55 degrees, a feat which makes possible an octopus exhibit at the aquarium the year around.

SF FIRE LADDIES PREPARE FOR XMAS

Some 2500 firemen attached to San Francisco's 55 firehouses are deep in plans for the annual Christmas firehouse decoration competition that has become a part of the season's annual festivities in the city.

While actual work will not begin before Dec. 1 and contest winners will not be named until two days before Christmas, firemen throughout the city are working on schemes and designs to make their stations outstanding prize winners this year.

The firemen spend a great deal of energy and effort, and their own money, on decoration of their firehouses. Throngs of visitors from all parts of the Bay Region visit them during the Christmas season and special buses are provided to take school children on tours to see the decorations.

Christmas Tree Operators Must Register

State Forester DeWitt Nelson, today reminded all Christmas tree operators that State law requires every individual who, for commercial purposes, cuts Christmas trees, decorative greenery, or other forest products on forest lands in California to register with the State Forester, State Office Building No. 1, Sacramento 14.

The registration fee is set by law at $1.00 per year.

State law requires every person who cuts or removes Christmas trees or holiday greenery growing upon land not his own to obtain permission from the owner of the land on which the trees or greenery are cut. Nelson cautioned that any person who knowingly sells, offers or exposes for sale, or transports for sale Christmas trees or greenery cut from land owned by another without a signed written permit from the landowner is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"On privately owned lands," the State Forester said, "the cutting of trees must be done in accordance with the forest practice rules for the district, or if on federal or state-owned land under the terms of the sale contract." The local forestry official can supply a copy of the forest practice rules.

Nelson pointed out again this season that forest officers in California will be on the alert for violators of laws governing the cutting of Christmas trees and decorative greenery for commercial and private use.

Retired Jeweler's Estate Worth $917,527

An estate value at close to $1 million was left by Louis A. Giacobbi, San Mateo resident and retired San Francisco jeweler, it was learned this week.

The inventory in Giacobi's estate was filed last week in superior court at Redwood City. The estate totaled $917,527.

The inventory shows that Giacobbi, who died on March 15 at the age of 92, left cash totaling $21,695, securities valued at $110,000 and the rest in real estate which includes his home at 120 Aragon boulevard, San Mateo.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

CROCKER

The inaugural assembly for the installation of Student Body Officers and the student council of the A.M. and regular session was held at an outdoor assembly on Thursday, November 2, at 10 o'clock. Honored guests included the following officers of the P.T.A.: Mrs. Ilse Berg, president; Mrs. Mary Wakefield, vice-president; Mrs. Thelma Holcomb, financial-secretary. Supt. James L. Snell, honored the student body by leading the pledge to the flag, and words of commendation were given the students by Mr. Hugh Falconer, general supervisor, Supt. Snell, and P.T.A. president Ilse Berg.

Entirely student conducted, Lenita Johnson, president, introduced her officers and the representatives who make up the executive board and student council. President Johnson's inaugural talk reminded the Crocker student body that the "C" in Crocker has always stood for courtesy, consideration, and cooperation, and that by every member of the student body remembering this, a bigger and better Crocker student body would develop. The student adopted bus regulations were read by newly elected sergeant-at-arms, Linda Amundsen, and by a new constitutional amendment, a Safety Chairman is a member of the executive board. This year's safety officer is Jim Snell, who also gave a challenging talk on "Safety."

New Officers

The P.M. session student body elected officers in preparation to holding an inaugural assembly at an early date. Officers elected were: Sharon Hancock, president; Mike Sibitz, vice-president; Darleen Liebhart, secretary; Donna Odell, treasurer; and Angela Lafrano, sergeant-at-arms; Jo Ann Meadows and Angela Lufrano, school pianists; Charles Erickson, safety chairman.

The fifth grade in room 3 is looking forward eagerly to Hollowen when they can wear the original masks that they made themselves. Fierce witches, happy clowns, and other weird characters are here in abundance waiting for that exciting night.

Sixth Grade

The sixth grade has begun work on a large relief map of South America. Paul Black, Ronald Davis, and Jay Hendon drew the outline. The flour, salt, and water mixture for showing contour formations will be done by other members of the class. Still another group will paint the finished map. This map will show the rivers, mountains, highlands, and valleys of South America.

This week the sixth grade in room 4 will have an opportunity to see the slides on South America which are furnished by the school district. Last week two interesting reports were given on South America by Edmund Brewer and George Bullwinkle.

The students of the seventh grade are studying the nature of bacteria during their health period. Although bacteria cause diseases as tuberculosis and diphtheria, the students have discovered that there are many forms of bacteria helpful in the life processes of plants and animals. This Friday the art supervisor will teach the students to use friscol paints for a Chinese art lesson.

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade in room 5 learned in their science lesson that the star, Betelgeuse, is so large that if the sun were put in its center, there would be room enough for the earth to travel around it in its regular orbit.

Every Thursday physical education period, the boys and girls are learning to folk dance. On sunny days the students dance outdoors on the playground. New dances that they are learning to do are the "Mexican Waltz," "Black Hawk Waltz," and the "Crested Hen."

GI Family Allotments Due Early Next Month

Wives and other dependents of enlisted men in the armed forces are reminded by Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer, San Mateo County, that they should not expect direct Government checks for family allowances until some time in December.

The Federal Government has actually been making payments of the family allotments since August, he said, but the payments have been made to the serviceman, not direct to his family. This procedure will be followed through the October payment, which is made in November.

"In other words," Granger added, "if a wife has been wondering where her family allowance check is she should write to her husband in service, not to Uncle Sam. The Government has left up to him the responsibility of passing its contribution along to her until the first part of December."

Dependents of servicemen who do not receive their November allotments by the middle of December should consult the Veterans Service Office, Courthouse, Redwood City, for the proper agency to notify. Meanwhile, they are welcome to bring any other problems growing out of their service or veteran status to his attention, if assistance is desired.

TO THE PEOPLE OF SAN MATEO COUNTY:

Now that the election is over and I have been selected as your next Sheriff, I want to assure you that I will carry out my campaign pledges to give the people of San Mateo County an administration based upon fair and impartial enforcement of the law in the interest of all citizens, to the best of my ability.

I wish to extend my sincere appreciation to the voters of this County and to my many friends and sponsors who have so generously given of their time and effort in support of my election to the office of Sheriff. I fully realize the responsibility placed upon me by this election. I assure you I will use my best efforts to justify the confidence and trust which you have placed in my hands.

I wish to congratulate Sheriff McGrath and many of his supporters who have contributed to a clean campaign.

Sincerely,
EARL B. WHITMORE
Sheriff-Elect

Hamilton Field Turns $45,000,000 Back To Civilians

The Western Air Defense Force reported today nearly $45,000,000 from three important bases were ploughed back directly into the civilian economy during the year ending last June 30.

In a report on "where the money went," the WADF noted that $35,838,295 — by far the larger part of all its expenditures — went for pay of military personnel at Hamilton Air Force Base in California and at McChord and Larson in Washington. Control of these bases was transferred from Fourth Air Force to WADF last August 1.

The biggest share of the money our people get goes directly into communities around our bases, said WADF. The report added the outlay will rise sharply for the present fiscal year because of Air Force expansion.

An additional $3,888,342 was paid to civilian employees at the three bases in the 12-month period. For the same year, $4,115,034 went to buy fuels and lubricants. The report noted a sizeable portion of such supplies comes from western producers and distributors.

Directly affecting the civilian communities near the bases were outlays for public utilities and leases of various facilities.

For utilities — water, electricity, gas — the three big WADF bases paid $297,350 in the year ending last June 30.

A much smaller amount, $2,780, went for leased facilities, including buildings and land. The report said government facilities are used wherever possible, as an economy measure.

Most of the money was spent at Hamilton Air Force Base, the headquarters for WADF and the heart of an air defense network stretching from the east slope of the Rockies to the Pacific.

Of the military payroll $23,744,060 was expended at Hamilton. McChord Air Force Base was next with $7,831,343. And Larson Air Force Base accounted for $4,263,892.

More than twice as many civilians were employed at Hamilton as at either of the other two bases.

The civilian payroll at the big California headquarters was $2,281,338. At McChord it was $1,123,809, and at Larson $483,195.
